. . . But Two In This Vehicle Died

Mother Fights for Life After Two Die In Crash

By TERRY IZZARD

Doctors fought today to save the life of a Sidney woman whose son and mother died in a two-car collision on Pat Bay Highway Thursday night.

At press time Mrs. Frances Worrall, of 2120 James White Boulevard, was in critical condition.

Her 4½-year-old son Jimmy died in the accident.

Also dead is the boy's grandmother, Mrs. Frances Daniels, 72, of 1317 Pandora, Victoria.

All three were trapped in their late-model compact car which was travelling toward Sidney when a southbound car driven by horse trainer Barry McGillivray was in collision with them.

McGillivray, well known on western tracks, was in fairly good condition today.

SPUN 60 FEET

The collision appeared to have taken place in the north-bound lane about half a mile north of Elk Lake, just south of a highway fruit market called "Berryland."

Mr. McGillivray's car spun 60 feet through the air after colliding with the front right of the car driven by Mrs. Worrall.

It eventually came to rest in a nearby garden.

Glass and mechanical parts were scattered over a wide area as the Worralls' car was pushed back over 40 feet.

'HELP ME'

Firemen soothed Mrs. Worrall, who was crying, "Help me, please help me," as they pried open doors with crow bars.

The dashboard was pushed back to the front seat and all three occupants were trapped beneath it.

First to be pulled out of the wreckage was Mrs. Daniels.

After dragging out the car seats police and firemen managed to get to Mrs. Worrall, who was also pinned by the twisted steering wheel.

It was only then that little Jimmy was found lying beneath the dashboard.

Ambulances rushed all three and Mr. McGillivray, who was found sprawled across the front seat of his badly battered older model car, to hospital.

But it was too late to save the boy.

Police Fear Assassin Waiting for De Gaulle

GUAYAQUIL (Reuters) — Police anxious for the security of visiting French President Charles de Gaulle today were hunting for a fugitive French terrorist leader who may have come to Ecuador to try to kill him.

He is Pierre Chateau-Jobert, a former colonel in the French airborne, and a leading figure in the Secret Army Organization, which tried and failed to keep Algeria French.

Police feared he may have arrived in Quito, the Ecuadorian capital, to stage an attempt on de Gaulle's life.

De Gaulle, who arrived in Quito Thursday on the third

260,000 Strike General Motors

UAW Walkout Hits U.S. Plants

DETROIT (AP) — A U.S.-wide strike against General Motors Corporation flared today when the United Auto Workers and the company failed to agree on a new contract by a union-imposed 11 a.m., EDT, deadline.

Shutdown Due Next Week

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP) — About 12,000 hourly rated workers at General Motors of Canada Limited plant here will be laid off Monday if the General Motors strike in the United States is not settled by then, a company spokesman said today.

"We could operate today and probably Monday and then we would be finished. But we are hoping for a quick settlement there before we are stopped here," he said.

The UAW is also negotiating new master and local agreements with General Motors of Canada. Local 222's contract expires Oct. 31.

Any decision to call a strike vote here would be up to the master agreement negotiating committee, but not until conciliation procedures have begun, a union official said today.

Negotiations were broken off and no further sessions were scheduled.

The union previously negotiated three-year pacts at Chrysler Corporation and Ford Motor Company, final agreement coming only 55 minutes ahead of deadlines at each.

The union took General Motors out of 1965 model production but announced its plants which build and sell parts, to Chrysler and Ford would not be struck.

Disclosure the strike was official didn't come until after workers already had started walking out at Cleveland, Ohio; Framingham, Mass., and elsewhere.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther announced at 11:30 a.m. that it was with "a great sense of sadness and disappointment" that he announced failure to reach agreement with General Motors.

He was accompanied to a televised press conference by Leonard Woodcock, UAW vice-president and chief of its GM department.

The UAW estimated its strike of GM would make idle 260,000 of its 354,000 production workers.

'MORE THAN MONEY'

Reuther said he thought the GM economic offer was satisfactory, but said workers are interested in more than just money alone. He said workers "are entitled to decency and dignity at the place where they work and that's the reason for this strike."

He characterized GM as a "dehumanized production machine that has lost track of the human equation on the production line."

Louis G. Seaton, GM vice-president in charge of personnel, said the strike "is completely unnecessary and unjustified."

"The union's reasoning behind its last minute decision to break off negotiations and resort to the strike weapon is all the more difficult to understand because substantial progress toward resolution of our differences had been made at the bargaining table," Seaton continued.

SEES RESTRICTION

"General Motors has made every effort to effect a settlement of non-economic issues, having in mind the interests of our employees. However, the union had made demands beyond this which, if granted, would restrict management in its responsibility to operate the business efficiently in the interests of all concerned."

"We are not prepared to ac-

NOW THE CAMPAIGN

64-Year Career Finally Ends For Churchill

LONDON (CP) — Queen Elizabeth today signed a royal proclamation dissolving Parliament in preparation for the Oct. 15 British general election.

WIRE BRIEFS

Public Inquiry

OTTAWA (CP) — A public inquiry will be held into the Nov. 29, 1963, crash of a Trans-Canada Air Lines jet near Montreal in which 118 persons were killed, Justice Minister Favreau announced today in the Commons.

PM Mum on NORAD

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson declined to say in the Commons today whether the government plans to withdraw from NORAD, the North American Air Defence Command, and scrap the Bomarc nuclear missiles when the NORAD agreement with the United States expires in 1967.

Boy's Death Probed

BARRIE, Ont. (CP) — Barrie coroner Dr. W. Farrington has ordered an inquest into the death from a ruptured appendix of a nine-month-old boy who was treated by a chiropractor for several days before being taken to hospital.

While it officially launched the political campaign, the proclamation ended the longest peacetime Parliament in 58 years and also the political career of Sir Winston Churchill, whose retirement took effect with dissolution.

The Queen signed the proclamation at a meeting of her Privy Council, composed mainly of prominent members of all parties. The council is appointed by the Queen herself to advise her on constitutional issues.

She flew here from Balmoral, Scotland, where she had been on holidays, to attend the council meeting and sign the documents dissolving Parliament. It had been the first Parliament to run its full term in time of peace since the term was reduced to five years from seven in 1911.

NECK AND NECK

The latest opinion polls, meanwhile, showed the Conservatives running neck and neck with their chief opposition, Harold Wilson's Labor party.

Prime Minister Douglas-Home held on to office until virtually the last minute, apparently to give the government's prospects time to brighten after the Pro-

The magistrate had found them guilty during the last week after a year-long trial.

He fined Fraser Book Bin $250 on each of six charges. Owner Ted Fraser was fined $250 or one month on each of six charges.

Manager Elram Harris and employee Don Poirier were fined $100 or 10 days on each of two counts.

BURNABY — Union of B.C. Municipalities today indicated it is becoming concerned with the way British Columbians are fouling their own nest.

A variety of anti-dirt resolutions were passed by delegates here in an effort to promote a cleaner environment.

A Prince Rupert motion led the campaign, calling for a province-wide crack-down by police on highway litterbugs and also urging the provincial highways department to clean up road debris regularly.

A Port Alberni resolution advocating a tough provincial controls over air pollution won speedy approval.

SET UP BUREAU

It asked the province to set up an inspection and research bureau, establish safe standards with penalties for violations, and require public hearings before construction of any industrial plants, with a pollution potential, is permitted.

Another resolution sought "early and positive remedial action" by the provincial government in prohibiting establishment of junkyards and other objectionable commercial activities along highways.

However, the delegates decided a Parksville request, that the province pay for all cleaning of public beaches, was going too far and this was defeated.

In other resolutions, the convention approved:

A request that the senior governments finance and operate hospitals for the chronically ill; extension of BCHS coverage to persons in nursing homes requiring prolonged care; initiation of compulsory vehicle testing annually through the province.

Keep Out of Business Governments Advised

HARRISON HOT SPRINGS (CP)—A New York trade executive warned government Thursday to stay out of private business.

R. M. Norris, president of the National Foreign Trade Council of New York, said competition between the two is dangerous.

He praised mutual co-operation between the two but said

"any benefits of such co-operation are lost when government moved over the danger line and into direct competition with private business."

"The major dynamic and creative forces in our countries' economic development," he told the Pacific Coast Association of Port Authorities meeting here, "are and will continue to come from private enterprise."

cede to such unsound demands just to give the union what it has publicly said it would insist upon getting from General Motors—"something more."

"General Motors stands ready to continue negotiations at any time and to work hard for a final settlement of the unresolved issues."

Rutherford won what he termed "a cake" at Chrysler and said "frosting" was added at Ford. He expected to make it "a la mode" at GM.

It was the non-economic issues that brought about the strike. The company had offered to meet the packages the UAW gained at Chrysler and Ford which Rutherford estimated at 54 cents an hour over the three-year contracts.

Unresolved issues at the start of a 24-hour marathon bargaining session included grievance procedures, union representation in the plants, production standards, disciplining of workers and working conditions.

The strike deadline came less than a day after General Motors put its 1965 line of cars on display in dealer showrooms.

STOCKHOLM (Reuters)—The Swedish foreign ministry has approached the Soviet embassy here regarding an alleged violation of Swedish airspace Thursday a ministry spokesman said here.

The spokesman confirmed a reported that a Russian military plane today flew at a height of 33,000 feet over Faroe on the northern tip of Gotland, an island stronghold of the Swedish coastal defence system.

The spokesman commented: "We may get an apology if we are lucky."

Kidnappers Set Children Free

BORDEAUX (CP)—Three children who have been the object of a country-wide search since they were kidnapped last Monday were found today happily playing beside a road near this southwestern French city, police said.

The spot where the children were found this morning is about 130 miles from Marnay, where they were snatched while walking home from school unaccompanied for the first time in their lives.

Police said the children told them a young man and woman had let them out of a car.

The three—Joel Biet, 5; Patrick Guillon, 5, and his sister, Christine, 6—were pronounced fumo scandal, a succession of spy cases and the struggle within the party to succeed ailing Harold Macmillan as prime minister last year.

Although the royal proclamation marked the official start of the campaign, most members of the House of Commons and their opponents had already started the hunt for votes. Among the few not on the hustings, of course, was the most famous member of the last House.

'CHILD OF COMMONS'

Churchill, 90 next month, is not seeking re-election for the first time since 1900. He has been a member ever since then except from 1922 to 1924, a record that allowed him to boast: "I am a child of the House of Commons."

Bowed and feeble, he made his last visit to the House in July. Although assiduous in attendance to the end, he had not made a formal speech in Commons since retiring from the premiership in April, 1955.

Macmillan, a member of Parliament for 40 years and prime minister for nearly seven, accompanied Churchill into retirement. He announced in February, on his 70th birthday, that his health would not let him continue in the House.

Both he and Churchill declined elevation to the peerage, the customary royal gift to outgoing prime ministers. Macmillan also declined membership in the Order of the Garter, which would have made him Sir Harold.

Atom Bomb Triggered By Britons, Book Says

LONDON (CP)—British scientists were the first in the world to perceive that an atomic bomb was technically and economically feasible, says an official history published Thursday.

The book, Britain and Atomic Energy 1939-45, is by Margaret Gowing, historian and archivist of Britain's Atomic Energy Authority.

The volume contains a mass of material never before published. It deals in detail with initial British developments in nuclear explosions and subsequent co-operation and lack of co-operation with the United States and Canada.

Mrs. Gowing's documentary evidence shows that German scientists working in Berlin in 1939 decided fissioning of heavy elements was possible but that a super-bomb using this process was either impossible or ineffective in relation to costs.

POSSIBILITY OVERLOOKED

But in 1940 two refugee German scientists working in Birmingham, England, produced a paper saying the Germans had overlooked one possibility.

The bomb could be produced, said Professors Otto Frisch and Rudolph Peierls, with uranium 235 of great purity. Oxford scientist Francis Simon went on to show how uranium could be separated by a gaseous diffusion process.

While the Battle of Britain was still raging and despite the strain on the economy, the British government immediately set up a secret panel of scientists code-named The Maud Committee.

Mrs. Gowing claims The Maud Committee was one of the most effective scientific bodies that ever existed. Within 15 months it had turned theoretical physics into a practical program for building A-bombs at a cost of £236,000 each.

U.S. STEPS UP RESEARCH

Meanwhile, copies of the Maud report had galvanized the half-hearted U.S. atomic project into action.

By the time co-operation was established by Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt, Britain had begun to lose her early lead. Then, in late 1942, all collaboration was abruptly terminated by the Americans.

ALL-TIME contract bridge record was shattered in Seattle Thursday by Mrs. Hermine Baron of Los Angeles when her 1964 master-point total rose to 1,055. She broke Oswald Jacoby's mark of 1,034 set last year. Mrs. Baron, stricken with polio at 13, finished sixth in the women's pairs event of the Pacific Northwest bridge championship. (AP Wirephoto.)

Bay, including a bus-load of people, pulled up at the scene to give assistance.

For half-an-hour the highway was blocked to all traffic.

The death-ride began for the family when Mrs. Worrall picked up her widowed mother at her apartment at 9 p.m.

She was to have baby-sat for her daughter and son-in-law.

Today Mrs. Worrall's husband, Geoffrey, a machinist's helper at HMC Dockyard, was staying with relatives at View Royal.

With him were their two other children, Laura Lee (7) and one-year-old Dannie.

Meanwhile, Mr. McGillivray's wife had checked out of the Sidney Motel where they had been staying during the races at Sandown.

She is believed to be staying with friends in Victoria.

Both injured in hospital were connected with the races. Mrs. Worrall had been working at the concession stand on race days.

Mr. McGillivray's father is at Sandown where he has been assisting his son with his training of race horses. A brother of McGillivray also is at the track, working for another stable. They originally came from the prairies.

'STARVATION WAGES PAID IMMIGRANTS'

OTTAWA (CP)—David Orlikow (NDP—Winnipeg North) said today there is ample evidence that many immigrants unaware of Canadian laws and customs are unmercifully exploited by some employers.

He told the Commons during discussion of the immigration department's 1964-65 spending program that there is ample evidence that such immigrants are being paid starvation wages.

Arms Smuggling Charges Strain Cyprus Relations

NICOSIA (AP)—Relations between the Greek-Cypriot government and the UN peace force hit a new low today as five Swedish soldiers were held on charges of smuggling arms to the Turkish-Cypriots.

"The situation could not be more serious," said a UN officer, "especially at the time when we are trying to persuade the Cyprus government through the Security Council to grant our forces complete freedom of movement."

He said the UN force had put the men under arrest after Greek-Cypriots nabbed them with two carloads of arms at a roadblock.

Gen. George Grivas, commander of the Greek-Cypriot armed forces, told reporters the Swedes were running arms to Lefkia, an inland stronghold of the Turkish-Cypriots.

Grivas charged that UN troops were responsible for most of the arms smuggling to the Turkish-Cypriots.

The Swedes—two officers and three men from the ranks—are expected to be sent back to Sweden for trial after completion of an investigation ordered by Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya of India, commander of the peace force.

CANNOT ARREST THEM

Under an agreement between Cyprus and the UN, the Cypriot government cannot arrest or try members of the UN force.

Greek-Cypriot police said the Swedes were caught with 75 rifles, 30 Bren guns, five bazookas, two mortars, and cases of grenades and ammunition aboard two armored personnel carriers flying the UN flag.

CITIZENSHIP CASE

Man's Character Determining Factor

OTTAWA (CP)—Ernest Bergsma was refused Canadian citizenship because the judge considered him not to be a person of good character, Justice Minister Favreau said Thursday.

Mr. Favreau, replying to renewed questioning in the Commons from William D. Howe, NDP—Hamilton South, said Mr. Bergsma, 43, of Caledonia, Ont., wasn't refused citizenship because he wouldn't swear an oath of allegiance using references to God.

He said the citizenship court judge found that Mr. Bergsma was an atheist and took the stand that he could not find Mr. Bergsma to be a person of good character as required under the Citizenship Act.

The question of an oath arises only after a decision is made to grant citizenship, Mr. Favreau said.

The minister also expressed

UBCM Scores Short Gain On Winter Works

By JOHN MIKA
Times Staff Reporter

BURNABY — Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell Thursday was applauded for making a partial concession in his controversial winter works edict.

After watching more than 400 Union of Municipalities delegates give two standing votes opposing his decree, Mr. Campbell told them:

"I've been asked to take back to the cabinet the feelings of this meeting and I undertake to do that."

REFUSED EARLIER

He had refused to do just this a couple of weeks ago when the UBCM executive protested his restriction of winter works grants to welfare cases only.

However, asked by Oak Bay Reeve Alan Cox to state whether he would support the UBCM stand Mr. Campbell declined to commit himself.

But even after the minister made his slight concession, the convention passed a third motion opposing his decision to underlie their feelings.

More than 25 speakers assailed Mr. Campbell's July decision to change the rules for provincial grants after all municipalities had set budgets counting on the assistance.

It's CD Day At UBCM Convention

This is civil defence day at the annual meeting in Burnaby of Union of B.C. Municipalities. Delegates are being given a continuous showing of CD equipment.

Provincial co-ordinator John Erb said the displays include a fire truck, welfare and rescue trucks, communications van and radiological defence equipment such as Geiger counters.

REALISM

In the past, provincial civil defence has impressed UBCM delegates with such things as a realistic mock disaster, complete with smoke, fire, blood and screams.

Today's program includes a speech to delegates by P. A. Faguy, director of Emergency Measures Organization, Ottawa, and a description by fire marshal Basil Nixon of B.C.'s emergency fire defence plan.

municipalities had set budgets counting on the assistance.

Mayor R. B. Wilson won applause several times from the delegates when he summarized the case against Mr. Campbell's decision.

"None of us is quibbling with the objective Mr. Campbell has of reducing hard core unemployment but I think this decision has been made, perhaps on a financial basis only, without thinking through the implications," he said.

The rule changes would harm the men involved and the municipalities, Mayor Wilson contended.

"BACKWARD STEP"

He said it was only in the past year that a rapport was beginning to show itself between the UBCM and the municipal affairs department "and I think this unilateral decision to pull the plug out in the middle of the season is a backward step in our relations."

Mayor Wilson said Mr. Campbell should withdraw his decision for one year and the municipalities should discuss this with him to see if we can come up with some formula for achieving what we are all trying to do.

SOME CHEATED

Mr. Campbell replied he would welcome municipal proposals "and I undertake to take them back to the cabinet too."

He said the government introduced the grants in an effort to help the hard core unemployed "but it is no secret some municipalities did the complete reverse and even scheduled normal work for the winter."

"It did not sit too well with the government of this province."

COX SLIPS IN AMENDMENT

Grant Extension Backed

BURNABY—Oak Bay Reeve Allan Cox Thursday neatly slipped an amendment into a UBCM resolution calling for higher provincial grants-in-lieu of taxes on provincial buildings, which would extend the grants to "university buildings" owned by the province—such as the University of Victoria which straddles the Oak Bay and Saanich border.

He pointed out that so far as providing civic services is concerned "there is no difference between public university buildings and other public buildings" and the costs of this service should be partially offset by the province at large.

Ald. A. W. Toone supported his stand and the convention accepted the amendment.

In the Pincers

PRESIDENT JOHNSON'S REFUSAL to discuss with representatives of the Organization for African Unity withdrawal of American military aid to The Congo emphasizes the growing chasm between the African bloc and the United States.

The president used as an excuse for not meeting with delegates from the 35-nation African group his extremely crowded schedule, including campaigning for the election. But, although the excuse may be valid, the Africans are sure to see in it a snub and one which will not easily be forgiven.

It is difficult to see, though, what other action the United States could take at this time. American policy in The Congo was predicated on the belief that the newly-independent African states would be willing to supply troops for a force which would help the Congolese government put down rebellion and restore order. Deep distrust of Congolese president Moise Tshombe among the other African leaders wrecked that plan.

Now the OAU in effect is asking that the United States pull out of The Congo and let the country dissolve into chaos and anarchy, perhaps come under the domination of Chinese Communist-backed rebels, which would certainly happen if Tshombe were left on his own. It may, in fact, happen anyway if the Chinese step up their efforts.

What the OAU leaders are saying is that they would rather see The Congo in perpetual turmoil or in Communist hands than pacified under a man they distrust. The United States can hardly subscribe to that idea even if its admiration for Mr. Tshombe is hardly any greater than that of the Africans.

Transport Commissioners Calling

THE NOTION THAT EVERY monopoly must inevitably result in "excessive" profits for its proprietors is deeply-rooted in the public mind and for that reason the announcement that the Board of Transport Commissioners proposes to inquire into the financial affairs of the B.C. Telephone Company will be welcome.

The board, which sets the company's rates, is the only body which can satisfy public suspicion or curiosity—which is aroused regularly as a political issue—about the amount of profit which is fair and reasonable for the B.C. Telephone Company. Too often criticism takes the form of comparisons between telephone charges in this province and in other areas where operating and capital costs, along with the amount of service provided, are entirely dissimilar. The transport commissioners quite rightly reject this type of comparison and base their assessment instead primarily on the rate of return on invested capital, the debt structure of the company and projections of future spending needs. They examine the company, in other words, as a particular entity operating in a defined area and under specific conditions—which is the only fair way to look at it.

As a general rule the Board of Transport Commissioners holds hearings of this type only when the regulated company requests an increase in rates. In this case, the board seems to feel that the rate of profit generated by B.C. Telephone since the last rate increase in 1958 deserves to be examined. The company has said it welcomes the inquiry—in effect stating it believes it will be able to justify its profit figures—so the board's decision seems to be a good idea all around.

It Is Possible to Walk

MR. JOHN STANTON, EDUCATION chairman of the British Columbia Parent-Teacher Federation, says that if the B.C. Hydro succeeds in raising fares as it wants to, the increase will "prevent many young people from completing their education."

He supports his claim by saying that the higher costs of transportation will be beyond the abilities of some parents now hard pressed.

It is reasonable to assume that some parents are paying as much as they can afford to let their children ride buses to school. But is it necessary for them to ride?

A very short time ago, when authorities were deeply concerned over the physical condition of young Canadians, the point was made that boys and girls, today, as well as their elders, do not walk enough. If, instead of riding, they walked to school, said the physical fitness spokesmen, they would benefit from the exercise.

There are instances today in which some students live a considerable distance from the schools they attend. This is particularly the case for those attending university and some of the high schools. It is not the case for very many more.

Each morning buses are crowded by boys and girls going to schools no further distant than were the schools their parents attended. And in almost all cases the parents either went by foot or rode bicycles.

There comes a time, of course, in the life of a boy or girl when it is beneath his or her dignity to ride a bicycle. There is, nevertheless, a well-established dignity to walking. With relatively few exceptions the practice would improve the young person's physical condition without necessarily interrupting his or her education.

Not Very Magnetic

WHATEVER DISAPPOINTMENT they may suffer in the polling October 15, Britain's Liberals should avoid the grief that follows over-confidence.

The Liberals hope sometime to form a government, but not this time. Their highest optimism in the forthcoming election centres on the prospect that they may elect sufficient members to enjoy a balance-of-power position if Conservatives and Labor finish with few seats separating them. But even on this point Liberal thinking seems something less than dynamic.

The Party's manifesto puts it this way: "If all the people who vote negatively to keep the 'other side' out lend their support to this (the Liberal) program, a decisive Liberal influence will be certain in the next Parliament."

There seems to be little in the program to answer the criticism levelled at other Liberal platforms of recent years—that they represent good, round generalities and take the side of the angels. There is an appeal to moderation, sweet reason and light in the party's policies, but its magnetism is questionable when party spokesmen say, in effect, "you might as well vote for us and against one of the other parties."

The Overload of Violence

THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION for Better Radio and Television is a relatively small body as associations go in the United States. Its leaders—recently joined by Mr. Newton F. Minow, former chairman of the Federal Communications Commission and critic of the "vast wasteland"—nevertheless exert considerable influence on the industry.

Right now they are engaged in an attack on the mounting pile of violence which passes for television entertainment during watching hours popular with children.

In a survey made earlier this year the association monitored a week's programs offered by the seven Los Angeles television stations. The survey disclosed a total of 192 hours devoted to crime programs—almost 20 per cent more than the stations presented during a comparable period six years ago.

By publicizing its findings, criticizing what it considers harmful in television and giving praise to what it thinks good in the industry, the association attracts wide attention. And its spokesmen pull no punches.

A good watch-dog group this—one that invites emulation wherever TV ignores the obvious responsibilities it should shoulder.

What's Wrong With Information?

IN A MATTER OF SUCH WIDE public interest it is difficult to justify the criticism by B.C. Hydro legal counsel of publicity given to one important phase of rate discussions.

Counsel accuses the municipalities of making "blatant" use of news media to advance their proposal for an interim bus fare increase which had not been placed before the Public Utilities Commission.

Why shouldn't the proposal have been widely publicized? Everyone who rides a bus is concerned over proposals to push the price of rides way up. The municipalities, which represent the public, are fighting the increase. What possible reason can there be for withholding from the public knowledge of the various approaches the municipalities are taking toward the problem?

FROM LONDON

The Issue Beyond the Election

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

THE SUPREME question in Britain will not be settled, or even much affected, by next month's election because the question is not political but psychological.

Having liquidated its empire and become a secondary power, does Britain still possess the energy and genius to discover and fulfill a new, vital role in the world? Or, softened by its new-found affluence and enervated by its welfare state, will Britain become a comfortable retreat of mediocrity, a kind of larger Sweden.

That, and not the almost irrelevant argument of the election campaign, is the supreme question and the world will not know the answer for some time yet. But no one who has talked to the famous men now governing Britain or to their possible successors can doubt Britain's final answer.

This country, I am convinced, is re-consolidating itself, after a period of confusion and sudden prosperity, for another advance that may well be more important to the world than the lost epoch of imperial grandeur.

Such an opinion would be worthless if it came only from a casual reporter, and suspect if it came from the leaders of the government and the opposition in the excitement and hyperbole of an election.

Close Partnership

It is much more impressive when it comes from Americans of high position whose government and people at home have long suspected that Britain is both decadent and hostile to the United States. On the contrary, the American assessment, on the highest level, holds that the partnership of Britain and the United States is now closer than it ever was in peace time, that it is absolutely essential to the free world's survival and that Britain is a partner to be trusted in the wrenching days now ahead.

None of these assumptions is apparent on the glittering surface of this opulent little island. Nor is that mythical folk figure, the man in the pub, much concerned with any political issue larger than the immediate contest represented by the lean and smiling aristocrat, Sir Alec Douglas-Home, and the cold, calculating middle-class figure of Mr. Harold Wilson.

Times columnist Bruce Hutchison is at present on a visit to Europe for a first-hand look at conditions in several major countries. Herewith is the first of a number of reports he will send back from time to time, based on his talks with top-level news sources.

To guess where Britain is going you must look below the surface. There you will find, among other exhibits, the most competent apparatus of government in the world, a system of administration which will survive, without the least tremor, a change of faces in Downing Street, and behind this queer machinery people newly affluent but still fertilizing, with their ceaseless stream of new ideas, the whole climate of civilization.

New Generation

What North American detractors of Britain overlook is a fact of timing. They are thinking of the heroic but tired post-war generation, the survivors of the German blitz when, in truth, a new generation is now taking over the nation's management and intends to change it drastically.

Certainly it needs drastic change. On that proposition both political parties agree while quarrelling about exact methods. Indeed, there is no really fundamental issue between them when the Conservative government moves steadily to the left as it denounces socialism and Labor moves to the right as it reassures and woos the private enterpriser. At the centre, where both parties are now arriving, the basic facts have become clear to everybody.

In a word, Britain already has achieved a profound social revolution without shedding a drop of blood but without profound mistakes that threaten this miraculous achievement.

A nation traditionally aristocratic is so obsessed with equality or "fair shares," as Labor calls it, that the economy is overburdened by welfare costs and the taxes needed to support them.

If the true test of a society were its statistical rate of economic growth and nothing else, then Britain has been falling behind western Europe and lately behind America. That is not the true test, of course, but it is an inescapable part of the test as both of the political parties fully understand.

Who Will Do the Job?

The real issue of the present election, therefore, is whether the government or the opposition should be entrusted with an overhaul of the national economy.

Both agree that it must be hardened and sharpened to meet the new competition of a ruthless world. The government argues that private enterprise, given its head, alone can revive economic growth, now virtually stagnant for more than half a year after a brief forward lunge, and repair a trade deficit persistent and alarming. Labor replies that recovery demands government intervention, not by the obsolete socialist theory of nationalization but by strong state guidance and a new tax system.

Each side claims, in fact, that it is better equipped to harden the economy, though both are promising more welfare benefits, as you would expect in an election.

These are superficial disputes of detail. The supreme question remains: What is the real quality of the ordinary British person when he confronts the full test of affluence at home and peril abroad?

There is no need to stress the bitter irony of luxurious North America indicting the British for modest luxury since that absurd comparison is beside the point. There is no chance either that an election campaign of slogans and headlines will reveal the quality of Britain. It will be revealed afterward, once this strange and deceptive country tackles certain specific problems of direct concern to Canada, as future dispatches will try to explain.

FROM LABIS, SOUTH MALAYSIA

Mr. Sukarno's Leap Into the Swamp

IN THE STIFLING headquarter's tent at Labis a staff officer in jungle green answers questions against a background of shouted orders and the soft explosion and whine of helicopter engines firing on the football field outside. Although under overall Malaysian command, the British, as usual, have managed to produce a sort of military minstrel at this base of anti-terrorist operations. There are five different types of helicopters drawn from the Royal Navy, RAF and Army Air Force squadrons, and Malaysians, Scots, Irish, English, Gurkha, Australian and New Zealand accents contribute to the babel.

was given a compass but no map. And he then embarked in a U.S. Hercules transport aircraft just outside Djakarta.

The blacked-out Hercules refueled at Medan, East Sumatra, flew low across the coast of mainland Malaya by night, beneath the defensive radar screen, and reached the Labis area, 95 miles north of Singapore. The first drop went smoothly. Stores were offloaded first five miles north of Labis, and then from a height of perhaps 800 feet the men and women fell in sticks of six into a development area where the only obstacles were tree stumps and young rubber saplings.

The second party was dropped 80 miles further north, in inhospitable, mountainous primary jungle. At least six of the terrorists were hooked up in the tall trees and had to use their auxiliary parachutes in order to reach the ground. The olive-green silk stretched among the upper branches was quickly spotted in daylight by a sharp-eyed observer in a Shackleton reconnaissance aircraft that flew over this green rug of rainforest in daylight. The operation was "blown."

Some of the paratroopers did not even know that this was not an exercise in Indonesia. Others who had been briefed expected an enthusiastic welcome from the local population. They would set up a guerrilla base, the Malaysians among them would recruit local help, they would pin down security forces indefinitely, expand their hold to cover a "liberated" area, foment revolution among a population seething (so they believed) with discontent against the government of Tengku Abdul Rahman in Kuala Lumpur.

The State of Johore into which they had dropped was largely populated by Malays of Indonesian descent. Labis itself had been in the middle of a "black" area during the Communist emergency, when the jungle terrorists enjoyed widespread

A Voice From Quebec

QUEBEC L'ACTION

Do they take us for savages? At the first Quebec Conference of the Allies during the Second World War, the French-Canadian people were still upset by the conscription crisis. Nevertheless, in the jam-packed streets of Quebec City, Prime Minister Churchill drove in perfect serenity.

Dressed in white and seated in the back of an open car he was a perfect target a mile away. The only obstacles he met were those we caused by crowding around him in friendship and respect. The only "security measures" ever necessary in Quebec were limited to a cordon to contain the crowds who by instinct love these visits among a people recognized for their gift of hospitality.

The Queen will be welcomed to Quebec with the same respect and the same friendship.

But this orgy of gossip on the danger she is risking among us is taking on terrible proportions.

"Let the Queen stay home if she does not have confidence in us," say justifiably irritated citizens.

The Queen cannot stay home any more than General de Gaulle can stay in his palace instead of mixing with the French crowds which are not always reliable. These are the risks of the job. The great assume this risk with a feeling of duty which alone merits admiration.

The British Crown was present at the birth of Canada. It prepared that birth through the wisdom of changes that came long before the contemporary era of national autonomy and decolonization. The liberation of the French-Canadian people and the protection—yes, the protection—of its institutions as well as its culture were accomplished under the aegis of the Crown in a period of history when crushing the weak was the only concept of nationalities and when the right of peoples to self-determination was not yet born. The French-Canadian experience was the prologue to the great modern empires.

The young people who have promised themselves a fine night out by protesting the visit of the Queen show their ignorance of history. They compromise their separatist cause by linking it in the eyes of nearly all our population, with a historic error.

In French Canada the Crown is not the "symbol of colonialism." It is the symbol of an emancipation that has continued to move forward.

Let the Queen have confidence in our people. They know that yesterday's history was necessary to prepare tomorrow's history.—Lorenzo Pare.

Are They Listening?

In a recent able address to the Vancouver Canadian Club Prime Minister Pearson stated that the country is sick, suffering from a kind of "national schizophrenia."

In the unhappy condition that prevails it is tempting for politicians and others to take advantage of the emotional forces at play and which are pulling the country apart. It is singularly sad to see some of our political leaders, especially those who a few years ago made quite a name for themselves championing a Put-Canada-First-Policy, failing to meet the challenge. The kind of schizophrenia situation that Mr. Pearson spoke of appears to offer the last refuge to these defeated politicians.

We could all at this time heed the sound admonishment of George Washington to the young American nation shortly after the events of 1789. "The nation," he said, "that indulges toward another an habitual hatred, or an habitual fondness, is in some degree a slave. It is a slave to its animosity, or its affection, either of which is sufficient to lead it astray from its duty and its interest."

Another statesman, this time a Canadian, is making the same point. One wonders if the Anglophiles, Quebec Separatists and the hate-America crowd are listening. TRADE UNIONIST.

Victoria: Two sergeant majors and the second mate of the Ss. Blytheswood were drowned during a fishing expedition off Albert Head.

Sept. 25, 1924 —

Vancouver: Outbreak of a massive tong war is feared in the Chinese section of Victoria, following the murder of a wealthy leader of the Chinese community.

Sept. 25, 1944 —

Vancouver: A former Vancouver alderman today told how he, an American colonel, a French officer and two other Americans entered a Nazi fortification and accepted the surrender of 500 Germans.

Destroyed

When in uniform and armed, they were first pursued and decimated by the Malay Regiment, and then whittled down further by the concise killers of a crack Gurkha battalion. Hawker Hunter jets fired three-inch rockets at them in deep jungle, and Belvedere helicopters may be lifting 25-pounder guns of the Malaysian Artillery into position to pound them more systematically.

When they buried their uniforms and weapons and appeared in villages in civilian clothes they were often recognized by their accents, seized and handed to the police or soldiery. The civilian population has shown commendable loyalty—sharpened in more doubtful cases by a generous system of rewards for captured terrorists. Labis is not the sullen town of the Communist emergency, but a lively expectant little settlement filled with the voices of dozens of children excited by the helicopters, the soldiers, the blindfolded prisoners and the occasional small Indonesian corpse.

Further south, where an earlier task force landed from the sea on the Pontian coast, more than 60 of the intruders have been eliminated and no fewer than 12 mortars recovered. Only a few scattered individuals are still at liberty.

Will Sukarno sacrifice more of his expendable pawns in another assault, and risk swift retaliation against his own bases by the RAF or Anglo-Malaysian naval forces? Some of the terrorists who jumped so boldly from their boats at Pontian, found themselves up to their necks in malodorous swamp immediately. It is to be hoped that Sukarno recognizes the omen, and looks before he leaps.

INSIDE POLITICS

With Douglas Fisher, M.P.

OTTAWA — Your guess may be better than mine on whether the special committee on a Canadian flag will come up with a good solution.

The record of Commons committees in achieving results has been bad.

In fact, most politicians do not take committees seriously, except for exploitation when there is a transfer from the House of Commons to the House of Lords.

If this seems too much of a thumbs-down verdict let me assure you that I reached it after long practice as a participant in House committees. Only one committee in recent years has been largely free of partisanship. It is the committee on public accounts; it has an opposition member as chairman and expert assistance from the auditor-general. Despite these advantages only six to eight of this committee's members bone up on the work ahead and keep it going. Two other recent committees, the special one on defence and the external affairs committee examining the Columbia River treaty, aroused good participation and educated their members rather well.

Reports Ignored

Aside from overt partisanship and inadequate preparation by members, the other general weaknesses of Canadian parliamentary committees has been the relative inattention given to committee reports and the tendency for speeches in the House to repeat and repeat what has already been elicited in committee hearings. One usual handicap is caused by the tendency of the government leaders to give committee chairmanships as rewards to faithful members whose talents do not merit more exalted rewards such as a ministry.

The dubious preliminaries to the creating of the flag committee and the special characteristics which it has been given may circumvent some of the normal committee faults. The chairman, Herman Batten, is a stolid ex-high school teacher with a lugubrious voice, a nice sense of decorum, and the least partisan approach of any Liberal from the eastern provinces whom I have met. Mr. Batten will not preside over any circus.

He has the advantage of the understanding that most of the meetings will be in camera. I have always found such sessions lead to compromise and horse trading; without the audience of the press, members give up the scoring of points. Another feature of secret session when carried on over a considerable period is that the membership develops a camaraderie and mutual trust.

Pleasant, Energetic

It is fortunate that the representatives of the three minor parties, Reid Scott (NDP—Toronto Danforth), Marcel Lessars (SC—Lae St. Jean) and Ray Langlois (Creditiste—Mégantic) are all pleasant, energetic and positive. Scott, in particular, is most persuasive, while the two French Canadians have an excellent command of English.

The Tory contingent has three men who may be intransigent; certainly they are ultra-loyal to Mr. Diefenbaker. These are the ex-cabinet ministers: Hugh John Flemming, Waldo Monteith and Theo Ricard. Mr. Flemming is not so dour and tenaciously Tory as the other two. But he has been very emotional about the Red Ensign. His balance may be another New Brunswick on the committee, Liberal Jean Dube of Restigouche-Madawaska.

Their province has the only even split between French and English in the country. As a former premier who drew French support, Mr. Flemming may be more moderate in the committee than he was in the House.

One jewel of a member is Reynold Rapp, an elderly Saskatchewan farmer who came to Canada from Russia many years ago. He is sensible, humorous and very conscious of his Canadianism. The last Tory on the committee, David Pugh, is an easy-going ex-colonel who has distinguished himself much more as an astute constituency politician than as a major spokesman in the House.

The member of the committee whose selection bothers me most is John Matheson, the Liberal from Leeds in Ontario who was Mr. Pearson's personal adviser on the flag design. He is the salt of the earth, gentlemanly, devout and industrious. He is also extremely intense and argumentative and a great one to probe so deeply that he gets mired in inconsequential detail. Matheson's persistence and industry would seem a likely bugbear to others on the committee, particularly to the Tories.

Affable Smoothies

Two of the Liberal members are affable smoothies from Vancouver and Winnipeg, Grant Deachman and Margaret Konantz. Certainly they are unlikely to antagonize anyone. The one firebrand on the Liberal side is Joe Macaluso from Hamilton West.

He is mercurial and light-hearted at most times, but even his best friends worry about his explosive temper and his rashness when his normal restraint breaks.

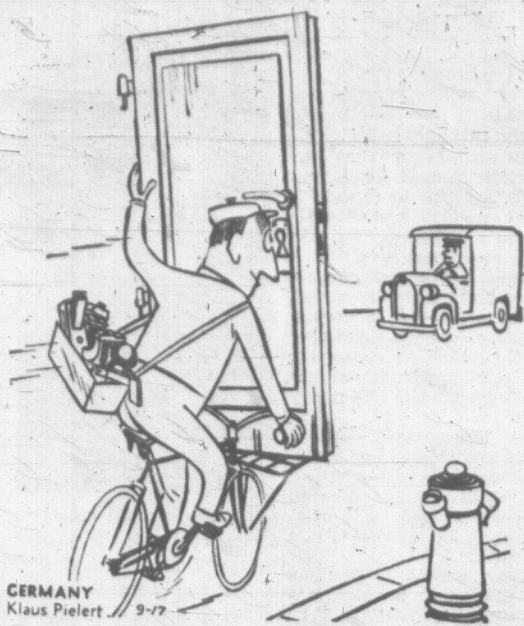

It is an odd mix, like most collections of MPs. The best we can hope for is that the press and their colleagues and the public leave them alone. There has been a surfeit of words and of generalizations about what the people want or, more properly, what the politicians think they want.

If the committee members concentrate on a design or designs and forget about the pros and cons of what should be incorporated in the design they may come up with something near unanimity.

This prospect would be much improved if the big two, Pearson and Diefenbaker, could leave the subject alone and forget about their pride and the electoral potential of the issue.

Do you think they can? Again, your guess may be better than mine. I'd guess not!

HOME GARDEN

Hyacinth Coloring Richer by the Year

Fragrance in plants is not detected equally by all people, though the ability to do so may be developed with practice.

Few will dispute the fragrance of hyacinths, and for this reason some of these should be included in any spring bulb planting.

The selection of colors becomes richer every year. Here are some varieties to look for: Delft Blue (light blue); King of the Blues (dark blue); Carnegie (white); City of Haarlem (pale yellow); Marconi (pink); Jan Bos (brilliant red); Cyclop (deep red).

For informal effects, groups of five or more of a color add life and perfume to doorstep or foundation plantings.

If wind and sun are somewhat broken by bare tree branches when the flowers are out, so much the better for their colors.

A well-drained soil containing coarse sand and plenty of bone-meal for food will ensure safe wintering and the building of the bulbs for another season's growth.

CONTAINERS

Since the foliage must be allowed to die down naturally in spring, some gardeners plant their hyacinths in containers, either large clay pots or wooden flats according to the numbers required.

These will contain the necessary soil conditions and food, and may be set down into the beds to be covered by four or five inches of soil.

After blooming, the containers and bulbs are lifted intact and buried in a section of the garden where their withering leaves will not detract from the general garden appearance.

For patio and porch planter work, this idea would be well worth the effort, and the initial expense of the hyacinths would be spread over many seasons of pleasure in their colors and perfume.

Religious Liberty Draft Criticized

VATICAN CITY (Reuters) — An atmosphere of dissension hung over the Vatican ecumenical council today on the question of religious freedom.

During a debate on a draft declaration on religious liberty Thursday, Franziskus Cardinal Koenig of Vienna urged the council to speak out against suppression of religion in atheist countries.

The Austrian prelate hailed the proposed declaration as "altogether acceptable."

But a hard core of conservative churchmen, chiefly from Spain and Italy, claimed the declaration would grant equality of rights to all religions, both true and false.

They argued that "error as such can have no rights" and called for a revision of the draft.

Bishop Jose Lopez Ortiz of Tuy, Spain, urged the deletion from the text of a passage declaring the state incompetent to judge religious truth.

In a clear reference to the position of traditional Roman Catholic countries such as Spain he said the passage "insinuated" that a government did not have the right to declare itself Catholic if it so wished.

Thursday's critics spoke in a personal capacity. On Wednesday, Paul - Emile Cardinal Leger, archbishop of Montreal; Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston and Albert Cardinal Meyer of Chicago all championed the adoption of the text.

Japanese Premier Needs Radiation To Stop Cancer

TOKYO (AP) — Doctors reported today that Japanese Premier Hayato Ikeda does not have throat cancer. But they said he requires three to four weeks of special radiation treatment to reduce a benign tumor in his throat.

Without such treatment, throat specialists at the National Cancer Centre said, Ikeda's condition might develop into cancer. Dr. Masaru Kuru, director of the centre, said the tumor was about the size of the last joint of the little finger and was near the vocal cords.

During the treatment, he said, Ikeda may be able to leave hospital for brief periods to attend to official duties.

Ikeda, 64, entered the hospital Sept. 9.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Editor and Publisher magazine said today a poll shows the number of newspapers editorially endorsing President Johnson and those backing Sen. Barry Goldwater are separated by less than one percentage point.

E and P said 243 newspapers, or 29.3 per cent of those polled, support Johnson. They represent 42.3 per cent of the circulation counted. Goldwater was supported by 250 newspapers, or 30.2 per cent of the total responding with 17.7 per cent of the circulation.

WEEKEND WEATHER PICTURE ACROSS CANADA

SYNOPSIS — A weather disturbance moved rapidly over southern British Columbia Thursday night with showers and strong gusty winds. Winds peaked out at 51 miles per hour at Vancouver airport while Penticton reported gusts to 60 miles per hour.

In the north skies cleared as the pressure rose. This trend will extend to the rest of the province today. However, a new weather system now in the Gulf of Alaska will bring freshening winds and rain to the north coast late Saturday.

SHIPS FOR CHINA

PEKING (Reuters) — Two French firms have won a $6,400,000 contract to build two freighters for China.

30 Dead, Heavy Damage As Typhoon Swipes Japan

TOKYO (Reuters)—Japan today counted at least 30 dead and 109 ships grounded or damaged, in typhoon Wilda's two swipes at the island nation.

It was the fourth biggest typhoon to hit Japan since records were first kept.

Police tabulation late this afternoon showed 30 dead, 361 injured, 11 missing, 5,000 houses damaged and 42,000 flooded.

Conditions were so bad that one of the four Olympic torches being carried around the island by runners, had to be taken in a car.

In Olympic village, which was only brushed by the fringe of the typhoon, trees were uprooted and windows broken. The teams were not yet in residence.

The typhoon hit the southern portion of Kyushu, Japan's southernmost island, Thursday night. It ripped through southern and western Japan before moving out into the Japan Sea. Then it swung back again, taking a swipe at northern Japan this afternoon before veering out into the Pacific.

A total of 109 ships were damaged or grounded.

Labor Chief Tosses Gauntlet

LONDON (CP)—Harold Wilson, Labor party leader, today demanded that Prime Minister Alec Douglas-Home "say clearly" whether he repudiated a Tory candidate who allegedly claimed a Labor election win would mean race riots.

Wilson, in the first of a series of press conferences leading up to the Oct. 15 general election, raised the simmering racial question in connection with a television appearance by Douglas-Home Thursday night.

The Labor chief, looking tanned and chipper and sporting a carnation in his button-hole, challenged Sir Alec to prove he was "sincere in what was finally dragged out of him last night."

Wilson quoted a Birmingham newspaper headline saying that Peter Griffiths, Tory candidate in Smethwick, a Birmingham suburb, predicted race riots in his constituency if Labor won.

'DOMESTIC MATTER'

Man Flees With Son On Vancouver Plane

LONDON (CP)—Police said today eight-year-old Stephen Trevor Lynch was taken "out of the country," apparently to Canada, Thursday without his mother's knowledge.

The boy is not regarded as missing, a spokesman said, adding that the police considered the incident a domestic matter.

Schoolboy companions said the boy was bundled into a small truck while he was waiting for a school bus Thursday morning near his home at Burgess Hill, Sussex.

Police at London airport said reservations had been made in the name of Lynch to Vancouver. Scotland Yard detectives said they had not been called in to the case.

Police at Burgess Hill said they were able to confirm today that "the boy left the country with his father. He is not regarded as missing by the police."

The Burgess spokesman declined to identify the father of the boy and said the mother asked not to be troubled by reporters.

Air Canada confirmed that two reservations in the name of Lynch had been made aboard a plane that left here for Vancouver Thursday night via Glasgow, Chicago and Edmonton, arriving at Vancouver at 9:30 a.m. local time.

Mrs. Lynch, who has another son, Michael, returned to this country from Canada three years ago.

STUDENTS BUYING BONDS?

School Loan Manipulating Charge

TORONTO (CP)—Toke Oike, a journal published by the Student Engineering Society of the University of Toronto, advised its readers Thursday to borrow money from the recently initiated government student loans plans and invest it in a trust company.

The journal told its readers to borrow $1,000 of the interest-free government money the first year and invest it with a trust company at 6 per cent interest. Each year for four years, Toke Oike said, borrow $1,000 and keep re-investing the money, plus the interest made each year. At the end of four years, the student would have $4,000 plus $722.10. He could then pay back the government's loans and have $722 left.

Thursday, in the House of Commons, Alvin Hamilton, Progressive Conservative member, for Qu'Appelle, said some university students were using student loans to buy bonds, then

Creditists Fail In Debate Bid On TV Broadcasts

OTTAWA (CP)—An attempt by the Ralliement des Creditistes to open a full-dress debate in the Commons Thursday on political broadcasts on the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's networks was ruled out of order by Speaker Alan Macnaughton.

Gilles Giguere (Creditiste-Lapointe), House leader of the 13-member group, moved to adjourn all other House business to discuss what he called "the discriminatory attitude of the CBC with regard to the minority parties."

Finance Minister Gordon said he didn't think many students would indulge in such "fancy financial manipulations." His department, he said, was checking into possible abuses with the provinces.

Fund Drive Held To Buy Drugs For Prisoners

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—A four-day fund drive through the underworld of Vancouver, to raise money to buy narcotics for men in prison, was described in county court here.

The drive netted $3,700, testified Robert Donald Trandberg, 29, charged in trafficking in drugs. He said the hijacking of the cache triggered two disturbances in Oakalla Prison Farm on May 9.

21ST BABY FOR IRISH MOTHER

DUBLIN, Ireland (UPI)—Mrs. Eileen Peppard, a 41-year-old grandmother whose husband is unemployed, gave birth Wednesday to her 21st baby, a girl.

Nineteen of the children are alive and five are married. The Peppards live in the town of Trim in Meath County.

They named the new baby, their 11th girl, Angela, because she was born as the noon church bell, known as the Angelus, was ringing.

'Copter Ships For Canada Gain Support

OTTAWA (UPI)—A new concept in anti-submarine warfare is rapidly gaining support at defence headquarters as senior officials assess the requirements for a new naval vessel for Canada's unified force, it is learned.

The defence staff currently is studying the findings of a special committee established last year to investigate the cost-effectiveness of all types of anti-submarine vehicles. The committee, headed by Dr. R. J. Sutherland, chief of operational research for the Defence Research Board, submitted its report late this summer.

Among the many anti-submarine warfare (ASW) weapons checked out by the committee was the landing platform helicopter (LPH)—in effect, a baby aircraft carrier designed to carry 20-40 helicopters at present, and in the future, vertical take-off and landing (VTOL) aircraft.

BEST SUITED

The more the LPH concept is studied by the defence staff, informants say, the more it appears suited to the integrated force concept. Moreover, it fills the requirements for a new naval vessel as laid out in the defence white paper, tabled in the Commons last March by Defence Minister Paul Hellyer.

The LPH, also known as an amphibious assault ship, carried an assault force of 2,000 men, their combat supplies and equipment and 20 heavy assault/anti-submarine helicopters. The LPH has a cruising speed of 20 knots, the most modern command facilities, the latest type of cargo and material handling equipment, and adequate space for embarked troops and vehicles.

Each ship, 17,000 tons and 600 feet in length, carries a crew of 528, plus accommodation for 2,090 troops. They would cost approximately $40 million each, apart from their helicopter complement.

The LPH concept is ideally suited to Canada's naval requirements in NATO, primarily as the ASW role; for heavy transport; and for use in brush fire wars in which Canada might be involved in a peace-keeping operation.

The LPH is emerging as the likely choice for Canada's next major shipbuilding program.

DID IT FOR A GIGGLE

'Husband for Sale' Not Serious Offer

LONDON (AP)—A housewife who advertised her husband for sale claimed Thursday it wasn't a serious offer. "I did it for a giggle," said Mrs. Donald Monaghan, 31. "I wouldn't exchange him for all the tea in China."

"We're a happy family, and if we were going to part, I wouldn't advertise it in the post office window."

The Monaghans and their two children live in the village of Toton, near Nottingham. Earlier this week, Mrs. Monaghan put up this notice in the post office:

"For sale or exchange one husband—Mrs. Linda Monaghan, Leyland Close."

She said she did it on impulse after a minor family row.

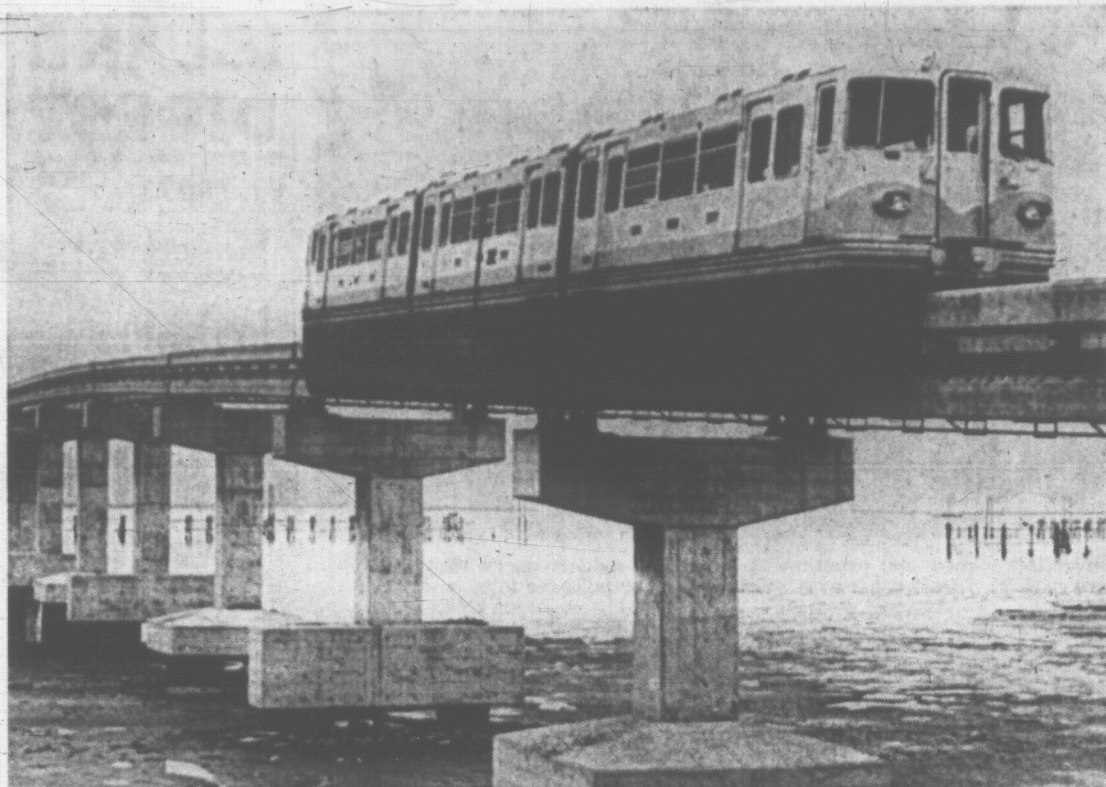

"A quiet life and an Irishman don't go together," said the wife of 40-year-old Irishman Donald. "We'd had a little argument, so I decided I would do this thing, well, for fun."

The Monaghan's eldest child, Clara, 9, wasn't amused.

"Clara thinks I'm a raving lunatic and is furious with me," said Mrs. Monaghan.

"I am saying nothing," said her husband.

Mrs. Monaghan said she got no offers.

NEW MONORAIL skims above Tokyo to carry visitors 8½ miles from the airport to downtown hotels. Built for the Olympic Games which will formally open Oct. 10, the monorail, already in service, is the world's longest and takes only 15 minutes to downtown. (CP photo.)

$40,000 Awarded In Libel Action

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—A federal district court jury Thursday awarded former Birmingham police commissioner Eugene (Bull) Connor $40,000 in compensatory damages for his libel suit against The New York Times over a series of two articles printed in 1960.

Connor had asked for $400,000 but said he was pleased with the lesser amount.

"I appreciate it," he said after the 12-man jury returned its verdict after 8½ hours deliberation since receiving the case Tuesday.

Lawyers for the Times, T.

Eric Embry of Birmingham and Robert Daly of New York would not say whether there would be an appeal.

It had appeared the jurors were having trouble in their efforts to reach a verdict. They deliberated Wednesday morning and afternoon and appeared nowhere near a decision. At one point, they returned to the courtroom to ask Judge H. H. Grooms to re-explain definitions of libel and malice.

CIL Strike Spreads

VANCOUVER (CP)—A month-old strike at the Canadian Industries Ltd. plant at Annacis Island spilled over to the company's offices in downtown Vancouver Thursday. Orville Bratton, business agent for the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers (IBP), said government conciliation between union and company officials broke down after two days of talks.

LAST TERM FOR BBG CHAIRMAN

OTTAWA (CP)—Dr. Andrew Stewart, chairman of the Board of Broadcast Governors, wants to retire at the end of his present term because of "purely personal reasons," Prime Minister Pearson said in the Commons Thursday.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker had asked whether the government had considered reappointing Dr. Stewart, and whether the BBG's first chairman had indicated any displeasure with interference by the government in the processing of radio and television broadcasting licences.

Dr. Stewart's term as board chairman expires in November, 1965.

Douglas Fisher (NDP—Port Arthur), asked whether the government had indicated a line of policy to the BBG concerning multiple ownership by certain individuals of a number of radio and television stations.

Was multiple ownership to be encouraged, Mr. Fisher asked. He said he posed the question because of the BBG's decision Wednesday to recommend transfer of the licence for a Windsor, Ont., station from Royce Frith of Toronto to Geoff Sterling, already the holder of a number of licences.

Mr. Pearson said he would look into the subject but it had no relation to Dr. Stewart's retirement.

Saskatchewan Signs Civil Service Pact

REGINA (CP)—The provincial government and its civil service employees have reached a salary agreement after 2½ days of negotiations. Premier Ross Thatcher announced Thursday.

The new contract, which cost about $600,000 annually for the 5,000 employees involved, provides for a 2 per cent across-the-board wage increase and other benefits.

The employees originally proposed a 4 per cent across-the-board wage boost and other benefits worth a total of $1,200,000 a year.

Premier Thatcher, who had originally suggested a freeze on civil service wages for one year to help the government cut costs, said the government's negotiating committee had been persuaded some increase was warranted and he was "pleased with the co-operative spirit" displayed by civil service negotiators.

"The new agreement is physical evidence of the government's desire to maintain good working relations with the civil service," Mr. Thatcher said.

Housing Starts Up

VANCOUVER (CP)—Housing starts in British Columbia last month jumped 65 per cent over the figure for August, 1963, Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation said Thursday. Apartment construction, much of it in the Vancouver area, accounted for most of the increase.

This is my daddys 1965 Volskwagen with the bigger windows

(Drawn by Martin Hilliard, age five)

Bigger windows. On a Volkswagen. Hard to picture?

Well, it's like this. We started with the windshield and we made every single window just a little bit bigger. All the better to see with. But the new Volkswagen still looks pretty much like the old Volkswagen. Unless you look real close. Martin Hilliard looked real close. Kids are like that.

He didn't care that the windows are only 15 per cent larger. He knows bigger windows when he sees them. And he knows how to draw them. So that's why we show you Martin Hilliard's drawing of our new car. And the bigger windows. It shows you what the bigger windows feel like.

And you can be sure when we make changes in a Volkswagen it's not just window dressing. It's the same with all 16 changes on the new VW. They're all there for good reasons. Improved brakes. Better gearbox. Lubrication-free steering assembly. And improved wipers to clean the bigger windshield.

Get in a new Volkswagen and see what Martin Hilliard had in mind.

HIGH-RIGGING DYING ART

Stars of the Logging Show Dimmed by Steel Spar Trees

By ROGER STONEBANKS

Leslie Nehaj, a 40-year-old high-rigger, has cut the tops off more than 10,000 trees in the last 15 years.

As he slithered down what was a 200-foot tree after axing the top 75 feet of it, he knew it was among the last he would climb.

"I used to top four trees a day five years ago," he said. "Now it's down to five a month."

His work as a high-rigger is being replaced by a highly mobile steel spar used for yarding logs. A 300-horsepower diesel unit provides the power.

Only one tree-top spar remains at Nanaimo Lakes logging operation and it may not be there next year.

"It was everyone's ambition to be a rigger when I was a youth," said Gordon Naylor, area logging manager for Crown Zellerbach Canada Limited.

"But there's not much point learning anymore. It's a dying art in the woods."

STEEL SPARS

Yarding logs by raised wooden spars began during the First World War, he said. In the late 1950's a Nanaimo company began selling steel spars, which are mounted on mobile equipment.

It used to take five or six men nearly a week to rig a wooden spar. The steel one can be in a fresh position in a few hours.

Another innovation is the use of tractor-trailers. Tractors used to pull one trailer but now they regularly draw two and three trailers and experiments have been made with four.

The long cycle of growth-to-cutting of a tree, usually 60 years, is getting attention in experiments near Courtenay.

TWICE GROWTH

Hybrid cottonwood trees were planted this year which grow twice as fast as evergreens. They would be used as pulpwood and may reach cutting size in less than 30 years.

Another experiment tried this year was helicopter spraying of 400 acres with fertilizer. Results will be known next year.

At the company's Elk Falls pulp and paper plant near Campbell River, a $36,000,000 expansion was completed this year to produce an extra 150,000 tons of kraft pulp a year.

Some 50,000 tons of this will be produced from sawdust, once considered waste worthy only of burning.

Sawdust can't be substituted for chips to make paper, but it can be blended with chips to provide a more even formation of the sheet of paper, said company president R. G. Rogers.

VETERAN RIGGER Leslie Nehaj, 40, pauses after chopping tree top at Nanaimo Lakes, among the last he will cut.

Well it doesn't anymore.

That fine old bottle has launched its last sip. We've designed a new container for Gooderham's Bonded Stock. Tall and refined with classic lines. (Our whisky's now in the best shape ever).

And we age Bonded Stock longer now as well. To make every drop just a little more mellow.

One thing though. Bonded Stock's smooth lightness we don't change. Our blenders know a good thing when they taste it.

Judging from the number of people who buy Bonded Stock Whisky, so does the rest of the country.

Gooderham's have been distilling fine whiskies since 1832

Overseas Trade Booms But U.S. Deficit Higher

OTTAWA (CP)—With a booming export business to overseas countries, Canada sharply trimmed her balance of payments deficit in the second quarter of this year, but the huge imbalance with the United States has kept the half-year deficit well above last year's.

As exports, particularly wheat, boosted Canada's trading surplus with overseas countries, the over-all deficit in the second quarter was pared down to $175,000,000 from $345,000,000 in the first three months of the year and $204,000,000 in the second quarter of 1963.

But the improvement was not enough to bring the half-year deficit down to last year's, and for the first six months of 1964.

The deficit stands at an estimated $452,000,000, a 14-per-cent increase over last year's $318,000,000.

The quarterly estimates released today by the bureau of statistics shows a sharp increase in the flow of long-term capital into Canada after the first quarter of the year had resulted in a net outflow of $5,000,000. The inflow of $166,000,000 in the second quarter was led by an increase of nearly $100,000,000 in new securities sold to foreigners. However, short-term capital was down to a net inflow of $76,000,000 compared with $306,900,000 in the first quarter.

The bureau says most of the change in short-term capital reflected a swing in the movement of Canadian-owned bank balances and other short-term forms abroad.

While the trading surplus with overseas countries more than doubled in the first six months of the year to $352,000,000 from $247,000,000 in the same period last year, the much higher figures with the United States increased almost proportionately.

The deficit with the United States increased to $1,070,000,000 in the six-month period from $699,000,000 last year.

Retailers Look For 'Big Year'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Retailers express confidence they will have one of their best years ever this year with a combination of an unexpectedly good summer volume and bright fall and winter prospects.

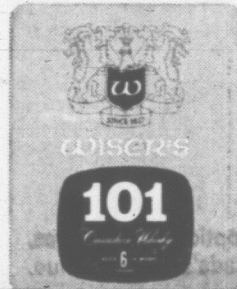

"It's definitely shaping up as good as the best of the post-war years," said Reynold Newcombe, president of the British Columbia Retail Merchants Association.

Retailers here reported good summer business despite poor weather and many expressed surprise at higher volumes this summer than the summer previous.

And "older" to Wiser's means aged in wood... and "married" in wood — a process of returning the spirits to wood after final blending for a further period of quiet aging. So for the best whiskies, the best value — drink one that's OLDER and WISER'S.

Gas Trials Next Week In Ontario

ORILLIA, Ont. (CP)—Magistrate A. J. Marck, who committed former Orillia mayor Wilbur Cramp to trial Thursday on three charges involving Northern Ontario Natural Gas day for the trial of Mr. Justice Leo Landreville of the Ontario Supreme Court.

Landreville, mayor of Sudbury before being named to the Supreme Court, Cramp and two other former Ontario mayors were charged earlier this year in connection with the granting of NONG franchises in communities where they were mayors in 1956.

Cramp, 56, was committed for trial after Magistrate Marck declared his six-day trial a preliminary hearing. Evidence during the hearing will be presented again in Ontario Supreme Court at Barrie Nov. 30.

Mrs. Wanda Miller, former mayor of Gravenhurst, and Glen Coates, former mayor of Bracebridge, will appear in Bracebridge court in October.

Each of the former mayors faces three charges. Two of the charges deal with accepting NONG stock as a consideration for procuring council approval for a gas distribution franchise. The third charge is that they conspired with Ralph K. Farris of Vancouver, NONG president, to bring about this result and to prevent adoption of a resolution providing for a franchise agreement between the municipalities and Consumers' Gas Company Limited.

World Fair Diplomats Gambling on Red China

By AB KENT
Times Staff Reporter

MONTREAL — Diplomatic recognition of mainland China may come soon in order to permit a full status exhibit at Canada's Expo 67 world fair.

The possibility of such a move is being considered by Expo officials, who are allowing for late entry of a large-scale exhibit in allotting space to major world powers for the Centennial fair in 1967.

Deadline for major exhibits is December 31, to allow plenty of time for detailed planning and construction the following two summers.

Invitations are sent through and accepted by the Canadian government and obviously it is impossible to invite a country with which there are no official relations.

Expo press bureau chief Jean-Louis deLormier said in an interview 20 high calibre exhibits and about 21 smaller ones are accepted.

They include—Canada, first, to announce participation and reveal exhibit plans — Britain, France, West Germany, United States and Nationalist China.

"We hope that (recognition of Red China) will be solved in time to allow an exhibit to be entered. But recognition is not our business," Mr. deLormier said.

There are political implications to consider as well.

As much as Canada would like the first universal and international exhibit outside continental Europe to truly represent the theme "Man in His World", there are practical limits.

"Who is our neighbor?" Expo chief architect Edward Fiset asked significantly.

As host country, Canada can orient other exhibits to itself. For example, Canada aims itself at the U.S. market. This alone might seem obstacle enough to Red Chinese participation in Expo 67 because of American attitude toward the Communists.

Mr. Fiset calls the spacing and placing of national exhibits "an exercise in planning," functional and aesthetic considerations.

"We can't put two countries who are at odds next to each other," Mr. Fiset said.

"We can't have large countries overshadowing small ones,

POWER WOOS FOREIGN FIRMS SAYS LOFFMARK

VANCOUVER (CP)—Trade Minister Ralph Loffmark says B.C.'s power potential will draw industries from places like Japan, Germany and California.

Mr. Loffmark said Thursday the three areas were eyeing the province as a future home for their heavy power-using industries.

He said they cannot meet their rising electrical demands and that the re-location of large power-consuming industries is one answer to their problem.

WHEN THE WRAPS COME OFF ON SEPTEMBER 28, YOU'LL SEE WHAT WE MEAN BY "PHASE TWO OF THE RAMBLER REVOLUTION"

This much we can tell you now:

Seven years ago, the Rambler Revolution created the first compact car.

It was a revolution against over-large, gas-hungry, gimmicked-up, uneconomical North American cars. In a short time, we became compact leaders. Every North American car maker followed our lead.

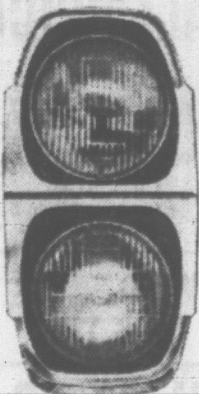

Now it's time for Phase Two of that Revolution.

On Sept. 28th, we'll introduce the totally-new, longer, larger 1965 Ambassador—designed to bring proven Rambler quality and exclusive Rambler features to the larger-car buyer.

That's just the beginning. For '65, Rambler will offer you a car for every need, every taste, every budget. You'll have a choice of brilliantly-performing 6 and V8 engines, and a spectacular new selection of power options and features.

CHOICE OF 3 SIZES

Phase Two of the Rambler Revolution means three different cars in three different sizes—the compact 1965 Rambler American, the mid-size, completely re-styled 1965 Rambler Classic, and the new, larger-sized, luxurious 1965 Ambassador.

Sneak Preview: Completely new styling from Ambassador for 1965.

WIDE CHOICE OF ENGINES— 6 AND V8

The widest-ranging choice of 6 and V8 engines in Rambler history will be introduced Sept. 28th—economical, gas-scrimping sixes and big powerhouse V8's from 90 to 270 h.p. Included in this range is Torque Command, a revolutionary new six-cylinder engine.

Torque Command combines the economy of a six with the performance of an eight. Its 7-Main Bearing crankshaft with eight counterweights gives you an unbelievably smooth, quiet ride. A test drive will prove it. New Torque Command engines will be available on all '65 Rambler models.

SPECTACULAR CHOICE OF OPTIONS

What makes driving more relaxing and pleasure-filled than a full range of power options and equipment? You'll find a great new choice of wide-ranging power options and features from Rambler for '65. From over 70 options and extras, you'll be able to pick everything you've ever wanted—from automatic transmissions, power steering, power brakes, power windows, to AM FM all-transistor radio. In addition, you can choose from the industry's biggest line-up of comfort and seating options, including 7-position reclining seats and improved adjustable headrests.

Sneak Preview: Torque Command 7-Main Bearing engine—the revolutionary new six that performs like an eight! Available on all '65 Ramblers.

LUXURIOUS NEW AMBASSADOR

The 1965 Ambassador highlights Phase Two of the Rambler Revolution. For the first time, proven Rambler quality and exclusive Rambler features will be available to the larger-car buyer. The luxurious 1965 Ambassador is totally new in size, in appearance, in performance.

Test drive the top-of-the-line Ambassador 270 h.p. V8. You'll discover impressive performance, astonishingly quick acceleration. This engine's power-to-weight ratio makes it one of the best available today. Whether heading down a back-road or moving out for mile-eating highway travel, the Ambassador V8 responds quickly and authoritatively. Under all conditions, on all roads, it delivers a brilliant balance of power and efficiency.

The 1965 Ambassador is completely new in styling and size. Spacious, luxurious interiors offer superb appointments. Trunk space is enough for all the luggage you'll ever want to carry.

FAST NEW CLASSIC

September 28th will see the introduction of the completely re-styled Rambler Classic. The '65 Rambler Classic is proof positive that a family-minded car can be a great road performer, too. Luxurious interiors have been fully re-designed. Appointments are new. There's more people space inside, plus more useable luggage space. With superb new 6 and V8 performance, and a wide new range of power options and features, the Rambler Classic is more than ever Canada's best car value.

LIVELY COMPACT AMERICAN

The '65 Rambler American is leader of all the compacts with startling new performance, thanks to the revolutionary Torque Command engine. Yet despite its delightful looks and eager performance, the Rambler American is still the lowest-priced Canadian-built car in every model—2 and 4 door sedans, wagons, hardtops, youthful convertibles.

Sneak Preview: Beautifully-designed new interiors. Luxurious trim, rich appointments. Full power options for smooth, sure driving.

RAMBLER QUALITY FEATURES

You get exclusive quality features and construction on every 1965 Rambler. For instance: strong, safe, rattle-free Single Unit Construction with Uniside; Deep-Dip Rustproofing, the world's best rustproofing; Ceramic-Armoured Muffler, likely to last as long as you own your Rambler; Double Safety Brakes; noise-hushing fibreglass roofliners.

A DATE TO REMEMBER

September 28th marks the beginning of Phase Two of the Rambler Revolution. The totally new, longer, larger, luxurious 1965 Ambassador makes its debut. The powerful new Rambler Classic and the compact-leader Rambler American will also be on display. You'll see superb new power options and features, great new 6 and V8 engines, including revolutionary Torque Command.

See, test drive Phase Two of the Rambler Revolution at your Rambler Dealer's on September 28th.

VICTORIA MAN AMONG AUDUBON LECTURERS

INTRIGUING SERIES OF NATURE FILMS PLANNED

Man o'war birds, grey-back and fairy terns, shearwaters and boobies. These are some of the inhabitants of the tropical Pacific island of Canton which inhabitants of Vancouver Island will meet soon. They will be presented in

"Stepping Stones to Australia"—the first of five illustrated lectures to be presented during the winter months by the Victoria Natural History Society and the Canadian Audubon Society. An intriguing program has been lined up for the popular series which again will be given in the auditorium of Oak Bay Junior High School. And each will be presented on two nights to accommodate overflow crowds the series of previous years has attracted.

"Stepping Stones to Australia," deals with the wildlife and local color of the three stepping stone islands, Oahu in the Hawaiian Islands, little Canton Island on the equator, and Viti Levu, the large island of the Fiji group.

The film was made by Patricia Bailey Witherspoon, daughter of Alfred M. Bailey, director of the Denver Museum of Natural History.

She will lecture on the evenings of Friday and Saturday, Oct. 2 and 3.

As our human population increases, so does our need for wild areas. "Wildlife of the Eastern Woodlands," produced by Earl Hilfiker, illustrates this principle.

The film and Mr. Hilfiker's lecture will be presented Friday and Saturday evenings, November 6 and 7.

After Christmas, the schedule will continue with "Teton Trails," a color saga of the Jackson Hole area of Wyoming by Charles T. Hotchkiss, January 15 and 16.

February 12 and 13; the program will be "New England Saga," depicting the way in which animals have responded to changes wrought by man through the years, filmed by Dr. John D. Bulger.

Victoria's own Dr. G. Clifford Carl will close the season's presentations March 19 and 20 with "The Essence of Life," a film showing how different plants and animals depend on water for their existence.

Spadefoot toads and pill bugs, leaf-cutter bees, tree frogs, pelicans and moose will be featured, characters in this colorful drama.

For the series of lectures, season passes are available at $3.50 for adults and $1 for students. Single admissions are $1 and 25 cents respectively.

Tickets are obtainable at the office of the provincial museum, the Dogwood Gift Shoppe and Ford's Book Store.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. # 'Foreign Vessels Sweep Our Seas'

Strong Plea for Fishermen Sounded By Members In Commons

OTTAWA (CP)—After a day of praise for Canada's fisheries department, MPs of all parties started casting about Thursday for its shortcomings. They hauled in their quota of big ones and little ones.

They capped the day of criticism in the Commons, with passage of estimates for the current fiscal year totalling $24,631,000.

It was a Liberal from industrial Ontario who had the most sweeping criticism to offer. Steve Otto, MP for York East, called it a tragedy that fishermen could not earn a decent living despite all their efforts.

The trouble wasn't a lack of fish — "foreign fishing vessels from all over the world come to our shores." It wasn't for lack of hard work either.

The department itself was not entirely to blame because it wasn't accorded sufficient importance. "The fault seems to be ours. We seem to be satisfied with having a mediocre fishing industry. We cannot imagine that we can do better."

Foreign countries send factory ships into Canadian waters that "sweep our seas like giant vacuum cleaners, taking everything there is."

"What do we do? We send out small boats to try to compete against these fantastic vessels."

Phone Receiver Thief Held Week As 'Deterrent'

A sailor who stole a telephone receiver from a booth was told Thursday his action could have cost a life.

Gerald Imbery, 19, of HMCS Beacon Hill, pleaded guilty in city police court to theft under $50.

Det. Walter Caldwell told the court Imbery took the receiver from a booth at Humboldt and Blanshard on March 21. It is worth about $5.

Magistrate William Ostler told Imbery it was a "senseless and destructive act."

"On occasion the availability of a telephone is a most important thing. It can be the saving of a life."

He ordered Imbery remanded in custody a week "as a deterrent" while a probation report is prepared.

SAC Officer Caught With His Flaps Down

A blushing USAF colonel slipped into Victoria 30 minutes behind schedule Thursday.

Col. Chaney Lockard, a key officer in Strategic Air Command, an umbrella defence organization which relies on split-second timing, grinned shyly and admitted:

"My plane broke down."

A former D-Day bomber pilot, he is vice-commander of the 92nd Aerospace Wing stationed at Spokane, Wash.

Accompanied by four officers, he was here to discuss the role SAC (as the command is known) plays in the ceaseless cat-and-mouse game with Russia.

Speaking of the deterrent to war posed by SAC, the colonel said: "The greatest striking force is speed and flexibility."

He said aircraft are constantly on alert and could go to war at anytime on the president's orders.

Heads of SAC were always within six rings of a phone and could contact any of their planes around the world at a moment's notice.

In all 260,000 personnel, about one third the total USAF force, is connected with SAC.

Of Russia, he said: "We're pretty certain they're not experimenting in space for peaceful purposes."

"Our job is to keep peace by deterring war."

Another Liberal member sounded the same note. C. W. Carter of the Newfoundland riding of Burin-Burgoise said the department was deluding itself if it thought a national program of fisheries development could even be initiated without doubling or quadrupling the current expenditures.

"It is useless to think about fisheries development on a national basis unless we are prepared to break away from the old established pattern and start out on a whole new path, with new thinking, imagination and daring."

Frank Howard (NDP—Skeena) said the British Columbia salmon industry had been in difficulty for some years because there was "too much gear, too many fishermen and not enough fish."

He asked the prospects for licence limitation.

STUDYING MATTER

Fisheries Minister Robichaud said there were great difficulties inherent in imposing such restrictions but the matter was under "very active study. It is our intention to take action in this field as soon as this study has been completed."

Another matter under consideration was legislation to permit foreign dragnets to land fish in Canadian ports for processing—a practice prohibited at present. The main consideration in allowing such a trade would be the increased capacity it would give the dragners for fishing Canadian waters.

A. M. A. McLean (L—Charlotte) was apprehensive about the future of the sardine industry in Charlotte and Passamaquoddy counties of New Brunswick. The sardines had been running for 80 years but scientists could say little about the cause or prospects for the future.

One of his worries was not the potential harm in the Passamaquoddy power development. "I do not think it will ever get under way because I think the power will cost 16 mills whereas they say it would cost four mills."

SOUND SPEED

In dry air at a temperature of 32 degrees, the speed of sound is about 1,087 feet a second.

THREE B.C. MEN DIE AS CAR CRASHES POLE

CHILLIWACK (CP)—A car slammed into a power pole near here Thursday night, killing two young men and fatally injuring a third.

Arthur John Mannard, 20, and Leo Zietter, 24, both of Chilliwack, died in the wreckage. William Langeman, 19, of Yarrow, died several hours later in hospital.

Police said their car went out of control on a curve, slid 100 feet along the pavement and slammed broadside into the pole. The impact severed power lines and blacked out sections of Chilliwack, six miles away.

PARIS POST has been announced for B. A. Walker of Ottawa. He goes to Supreme Headquarters of Allied Powers in Europe as technical centre representative from his previous job of director of plans for Canada's defence research board.

Radar Pay Dispute To Arbitration

WINNIPEG (CP)—Negotiators in a dispute involving 550 workers on the Canadian section of the Distant Early Warning line have decided to place their differences before a federal government-appointed arbitrator.

The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW) is seeking more pay and certain union security measures for its majority force on the Canadian section of the DEW line.

The Federal Electric Corporation of Paramus, N.J., operates the line for the United States.

FLURRY STARTED IN A HURRY

Quickly-discarded gloves didn't even have time to hit ice before Boston's Reg Fleming (dark uniform) was ready to start flailing away at Victoria defenceman Barry Trapp (3). Second-period display was watched by Victoria netminder Al Millar (1) and 2,693 fans who also saw Bruins carve out 5-2 exhibition decision over Western Hockey League team. (Times photo by Halkett.)

Leafs Victimized By Bruin Bounce

Victoria Goalie Shines But Leafs Drop 5-2 Duke

Boston 5, Victoria 2 By DOUG PEDEN

Even an all-star goalie needs time to change direction and that's one of the big reasons why Boston Bruins won their first exhibition triumph of the season. Bruins, who have held down last place in the National Hockey League for the last four years, haven't exactly threatened to set the hockey world on fire while preparing for a new campaign. In five preseason tussles with other NHL clubs, they have managed one tie and suffered four defeats.

They finally stepped to the right side of the ledger at Memorial Arena Thursday night as they had the puck bouncing their way with gay abandon. Bruins cashed in on three deflected shots and racked up Victoria Maple Leafs 5-2 before the fans who were on hand to welcome a Western Hockey League club back to the city.

Victim of the Boston bounces was goaltender Al Millar, who earned all-star rating while helping Denver to the WHL title last season.

On each of the first three Bruins tallies, Millar started his move to block the original shot, saw the puck deflect off one of the players clustered in front of his cage and didn't have time to recover for an off-line move.

Gary Dornhoff, Tom Johnson and Leo Boivin got credit for those goals. Millar was screened on the fourth one as Forbes Kennedy backhanded a rebound into the net and just failed to cover a corner before Tom Williams banged home a goal-mouth pass to end the scoring.

Veteran defenceman Bill Shvets, lifting a rebound over goalie Ed Johnson to make it 4-0 in the first period, and Larry Keenan, who made it 4-2 at seven minutes of the third session, scored for Victoria.

Wings Flying High

Detroit Red Wings, noted for their late drives during the last two seasons in the National Hockey League, have become the unbeatable in pre-season games this year.

The Wings have two wins and a tie against the Stanley Cup champion Toronto Maple Leafs and have defeated Boston Bruins once.

They added their fourth victory Thursday night, defeating Chicago Black Hawks 4-2 at Hamilton, paced by a two-goal performance from veteran Gordie Howe.

In other NHL exhibition action Thursday night, New York Rangers shut out Toronto 2-0 at Winnipeg, and Montreal Canadiens defeated Omaha Knights of the Central Professional League 5-3 at Valleyfield, Que.

The Rangers are also undefeated in two exhibition games although their first was against Baltimore Clippers of the American Hockey League.

Two other veterans, Norm Ulman and Floyd Smith, shared in the Red Wings' victory with a goal each. Pierre Plante and rookie Doug Robinson replied for the Hawks. Don Marshall and Earl Ingarfield counted for the Rangers.

Jean Beliveau turned in a two-goal performance as the Canadiens won their first exhibition game of the season. Henry Richard, Dave Balon and Yvan Cournoyer, who played with the Junior Canadiens of the Ontario Hockey Association last season, got the others. Leon Rochefort, Jim Roberts and Gary Butler replied for the Knights.

NO FLAG IN ST. LOUIS; BING TO TRY FOR METS

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Bing Devine, recently fired as general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, will become assistant to president George Weiss of New York Mets, the Sporting News reports.

The sports newspaper, in a story out of New York, says Devine will take over as general manager of the Mets when Weiss, 70, retires.

The story also says the future of Mets field manager Casey Stengel is uncertain.

Devine, 48, was with the Cardinals organization from the time he graduated from Washington University in St. Louis until he was fired in August. His dismissal came because he did not produce a pennant-winner in his seven years as general manager.

EXTRA-HOLE BATTLE

Wisconsin Golfer Captures Crown

SANDWICH, England (CP)—Carol Sorenson of the United States won the British women's amateur golf title today, defeating Bridget Jackson of England on the 37th hole.

Miss Sorenson of Janesville, Wis., rallied after being one down after the first 18 holes as both finalists scored one-under-par 72s over the 6,017-yard Prince's course.

The 21-year-old American girl had trouble on the greens in the morning round. Six times she missed putts of less than 10 feet. However, she had better control of her putter in the afternoon round and her steadier play paid off with the title.

Playing conditions were not easy although the winds off the English Channel were fairly light and the sun was bright. The course had dried out and both Miss Sorenson and Miss Jackson smacked the ball straight from tee to green through most of the pulsating match.

BEATEN ON 20TH Miss Jackson reached the final by defeating Joanne Goulet of Regina in Thursday's semifinal. The Regina girl, who arrived here unheralded, was the last of three Canadian golfers to be ousted.

Miss Goulet has been a member of the Saskatchewan women's provincial team since 1953 and has won the Saskatchewan title four times—in 1952, 1957, 1960 and 1961. She finished third in the 1964 Canadian women's closed championship.

Miss Jackson fought back to beat Miss Goulet after being two down with only five holes remaining to play. The English golfer won on the 20th, or second extra hole.

Miss Sorenson defeated Phyllis Ann Preuss of the U.S. in the other semifinal Thursday.

Touring XI Held to Draw

TORONTO (CP)—Intermittent rain forced the touring Yorkshire Cricket Club to a draw for the second consecutive day as the team concluded a two-day visit here Thursday and its matches with the host Toronto Cricket Club.

Yorkshire batted first and scored 189 for six declared and Toronto replied with 114 for 2 when rain stopped play.

The British squad is considered one of the world's best. Thursday's match was played in spasms with the players on the field for less than three of the allotted six hours because of rain.

Sparking the visitors' attack was Freddie Trueman who scored 22 runs and bowled one wicket. Toronto batters were led by newcomer Ali Khan, captain of the Saskatchewan team, and guest player Vic Walker.

Uplands Collects Cup

Distaff swingers from Uplands Golf Club captured the Dowell Cup Thursday although playing to an 18-18 tie with the Colwood women's team at Colwood. A big margin in the first half of the home-and-home series gave Uplands a 47 1/2-24 1/2 triumph.

Lions' Pilot Qualifies First-Place Prediction

By THE CANADIAN PRESS Coach Dave Skrien confidently expects British Columbia Lions to make a first-place finish in the Western Football Conference.

The only qualification he tagged to this prediction Thursday was that his players must continue "physically alert and ready to play" through the second half of the season.

The boss of the only unbeaten team in the Canadian Football League this season faces a tough game here Saturday night with the Grey Cup champion Hamilton Tiger Cats. Lions follow it with games in Toronto and Montreal and a home-and-home set with Edmonton Eskimos.

To date Lions have put together six victories and two ties for 14 points, as many as the Alts, Argos and Esk. combined. Victories in the four games would give Lions 22 points, which is Skrien's calculation of the requirement to finish first.

LITTLE CUSHION

"Winning all four of our games so far against Saskatchewan and Calgary has given us an edge," Skrien said. "If we should falter slightly we've got a little cushion."

Other games scheduled for a busy football weekend have the Eskimos at Regina Saturday night and Toronto Argonauts at Winnipeg to meet the Blue Bombers Sunday afternoon.

The Saturday Hamilton-B.C. game will be telecast nationally by CBC but will be blacked out in the Pacific Coast area. The Argo-Bomber battle will be telecast nationally by CTV, starting at noon PDT Sunday.

Par Needed to Survive Cutoff In Seattle Open

SEATTLE (AP)—Fred Martil of Houston scored a four-under-par 66 Thursday to enter a four-way tie for the leadership at the half-way point of the $40,000 Greater Seattle Open tourney.

Coupled with a first-round 67 on the 6,728-yard course, it put Martil in a tie with Bob Bruno of Oakland, Calif.; Bob Batdorf of Reading, Pa.; and the consistent Al Geiberger, former University of Southern California fairways star.

The quarter, each seven-under-par, lead the play into today's third round after the most massive assault on par of the 1964 professional golf tour. Only pros who shot par 140 or better were left in competition when the field was cut Thursday night to the top 70 and ties.

One who did not make it was Ockie Eliason of nearby Tacoma, but he had a good grip on $10,000 in consolation money. That was the bonus prize offered for a hole-in-one at the 237-yard, par-three seventh hole.

Eliason, 41-year-old driving range pro, hit a three iron for his ace and then succumbed to nerves. He had a 31 on the first nine, but faltered on the back nine for a 41, a final 72 and a 143 total.

Unless someone else scores an ace at the seventh hole, Eliason—now an anxious spectator—will keep the $10,000.

The top-ranking quartet was no more secure today than was Canada's Al Balding after his opening 64 gave him the first day lead. Thursday he shot a 72 and dropped back, but is still in the running with 136.

VENTURI MISSES A major casualty was Ken Venturi, U.S. Open champion, who could do no better than 72-75 in his two rounds. Chi Chi Rodriguez, with two double bogies in the last three holes, survived the cut with a 140.

Bobby Nichols, who began to share in golf's big money after winning the Seattle Open last year, was one stroke back of the leaders along with Tommy Aaron, Dow Finsterwald, Lionel Hebert and Jerry Steelsmith.

Vancouver veteran Stan Leonard was 66-71-137 while Toronto's George Knudson made the cutoff with 69-71-140.

Cass Will Train In Boston Arena

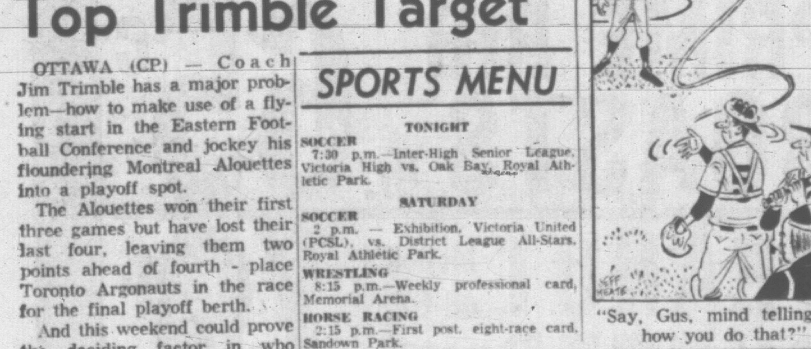

BOSTON (AP)—Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay will train at Boston Arena annex for the final three weeks of his tuneup for a return championship bout with Sonny Liston.

Co-promoter Sam Silverman said Clay will arrive in Boston about Oct. 26 to start his final workouts before the Nov. 16 bout at Boston Garden.

Firearms Course To Start Oct. 6

Victoria Fish and Game Club's annual junior firearms course will commence Oct. 6. The six-week clinic is open to all youngsters between the ages of 13-17. Classes will be held Tuesday evenings at the YMCA and registrations are now being accepted at Stan Williams' Hunting and Fishing Store, Government Street.

CLTA COPIES HOCKEY PROGRAM

Big Move for Tennis

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Canadian Lawn Tennis Association says it has completed arrangements for a $3,000 program aimed at developing Davis Cup-calibre tennis players.

The association formed a national collegiate team at the University of British Columbia, patterned after the Canadian Olympic hockey team of 1963.

Four top junior players from the Vancouver area, and one junior and a 23-year-old veteran from Montreal, form the nucleus of the proposed team.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—General manager Bud Poile figures his San Francisco Seals will run off with the Western Hockey League title again this year.

"We got the cup, he said of the defending champions. "Let the rest of them try to take it from us. We got a very good club on paper."

PLENTY OF ROOM Sports Centre After Curlers

Curlers of all shapes, sizes and assorted abilities are wanted in Esquimalt.

The Sports Centre's curling lanes will be opened for business Oct. 9 and manager Joe Ianarelli says various leagues are hunting for curlers.

There's plenty of room for rock-tossers in the ladies' afternoon league, the Saturday afternoon (mixed) league and the Tuesday night (men's) League.

Saturday curlers will set up seasonal plans at a meeting in the Sports Centre at 2 p.m. Saturday, of course. The Tuesday league, which curls from 7 to 9, also has a meeting coming up—this Tuesday at 7:30.

Boosting Air Power Top Trimble Target

OTTAWA (CP)—Coach Jim Trimble has a major problem—how to make use of a flying start in the Eastern Football Conference and jockey his floundering Montreal Alouettes into a playoff spot.

The Alouettes won their first three games but have lost their last four, leaving them two points ahead of fourth-place Toronto Argonauts in the race for the final playoff berth.

And this weekend could prove the deciding factor in who winds up in third place. Montreal tangles with the EFC front-running Ottawa Rough Riders here Saturday and Toronto visits Winnipeg Blue Bombers, who trail the five-team Western Football Conference, Sunday.

A win for Montreal here Saturday would almost certainly give them third place over the Argos, who have won only two of their seven games.

QUARTERBACK HURT

Trimble's immediate problem is how to improve his impotent air attack with his first-string quarterback, Vernon Cole, suffering a leg injury. But Trimble hasn't decided whether to use understudy George Bork Saturday.

"Cole looked better in tonight's workout," Trimble said Thursday.

Ex-Esk Getty Calling Signals For Oil Firm

By WAYNE OVERLAND

EDMONTON (UPI)—A quarterback who never could quite make first string in professional football is now calling the plays for his own team in a tougher league.

Retired Edmonton Eskimo Don Getty recently gambled on organizing Canada's newest independent oil company at a time when independents in Western Canada are merging to survive.

The honors graduate from the University of Western Ontario so firmly believes in the opportunities for independent oilmen that he cut short his football career to organize Baldonnel Oil and Gas Ltd.

The sacrifice has been considerable. Getty says: "I miss the game tremendously, but if I go through this year without playing, I think I'll be able to stay away."

He has one of his old team mates on the Baldonnel roster. Although the company has not released a list of shareholders, except to say they are all Canadians, Getty did say former Eskimo fullback Normie Kwong is an investor.

Kwong, equally famed for his hard running and harder contract terms, has retired from football to his business interests in Vancouver.

Getty hopes to reach the same business heights he and the "China Clipper" did in football when the Eskimos won three consecutive Grey Cups.

The highlight of Getty's football career occurred in the 1956 playoffs when he came off the bench, Jackie Parker moved to halfback to team with Kwong and Johnny Bright as the most effective backfield in the Canadian Football League.

Getty guided the Eskimos to a comeback over Saskatchewan in the Western finals and then trounced Montreal in the Grey Cup.

Two-Year Target Is Five Million

Backing his business plays the 30-year-old Getty will have $500,000 in capital and $1 million in assets. Baldonnel is aiming at $5 million in assets in two years and will then make a public stock offering.

Despite being the youngest oil company president in Canada, Getty has considerable experience in the oil industry.

He joined Imperial Oil on coming to Edmonton in 1955 and left in 1961 to join Mid-Western Industrial Gas Ltd., where he later became assistant general manager.

Earlier this year when Mid-Western merged with another firm, Getty decided to organize his own company.

Although he had managed to combine football and business careers for eight years, the new responsibilities forced his retirement.

Getty says football was a mixed blessing to his business career. "Recognition gives an advantage over going in cold to meet businessmen," he said. "But, football also dragged me away from my career at other times."

It is well known that Getty has made excellent investments in stocks, but he denies his name gave him an advantage.

Now, the quarterback who preferred a passing attack with the Eskimos believes there is more running room for independent oilmen than ever before.

Independents Squeezed By Alberta

While other Western independents are publicly complaining that the Alberta government is squeezing them out, Baldonnel is about to undertake a big expansion program.

Getty says: "So many firms have merged that opportunities for new companies to participate are greater than ever before. It's getting so in some cases it's hard for a major company to find takers for a farmout unless the deal is really good."

Baldonnel will concentrate on areas where potential reserves appear to be reasonably prolific rather than "wild cat" in virgin territory.

At the present time Baldonnel has 750,000 barrels in proven reserves. Getty said the firm has working interests in a dozen producing oil wells in Alberta and Saskatchewan plus several proven locations. Baldonnel will participate in about 20 wells this year.

Getty denies the Western oil industry is in a slump and new fields have become scarce. He says production has never been greater and exploration programs to date have just scratched the surface.

The handsome, six-foot two-inch, 190-pound executive also believes he is just beginning to scratch the surface in a number of other ventures.

He is the manager of Diamond C racing stables with Kwong and Parker as partners. Getty said they hope to expand the modest three-horse stable, which turned a good profit this year, into a major concern.

Getty also got back into the football picture when he took a job doing game commentaries and interviews for an Edmonton radio and television station.

Athletic Row Settled

LONDON (AP)—Britain's Olympic athletes patched up their row with their managers Thursday and promised to go to Tokyo determined to win.

A 40-minute discussion ended with announcement that Pat Sage will stay on as team manager, Robbie Brightwell as team captain and Jack Crump as secretary of the Amateur Athletic Board. Resignation offers and accusations of incompetence were thrown around by both sides Wednesday after an argument about television fees.

At the moment interview fees go to the board, who pass them on to deserving clubs. The athletes, barred as amateurs from taking fees, demanded a voice in distribution of the funds but didn't get it.

DOUBTFUL about future, Camille Henry of New York Rangers 'has been hospitalized in Winnipeg for at least 10 days. Lightweight centre of National Hockey League is undergoing treatment for back injury and doctors have advised him against returning to rough sport.

McKINLEY DRAWS STOLLE

Luck of the Draw Favors U.S. Team

CLEVELAND (AP)—The United States got the first break when top-ranked Chuck McKinley was drawn against Australia's Fred Stolle in today's opening singles tennis match of the 53rd Davis Cup challenge round.

The second match sends Dennis Ralston against the reigning world amateur tennis champion, Roy Emerson—and that's also the way the Americans want it.

"I don't think it makes a great deal of difference, but if there is an advantage in the draw it is all with us," said Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, non-playing captain of the Americans and a veteran of seven challenge round campaigns.

"We are lucky that we have Stolle, the weaker of the two Australians, in the first match each day of the singles. We should beat him in both and also win the doubles, which means we will keep the cup by 3-2."

The vital doubles match will be played Saturday, with the final singles on Sunday sending Stolle against Ralston and Emerson against McKinley.

The same four players will play doubles. The Americans are conceded a slight edge because Ralston and McKinley are experienced as a pair, whereas Emerson has only been playing with Stolle for the last few weeks.

Anxious Phillies Run Into Trouble

Base-Running Boo-Boos Cut Lead Cards Challenging After Sweep

By Associated Press

Philadelphia Phillies are so anxious to win the National League pennant, they may run themselves right out of it.

The faltering Phillies, hit with some controversial and costly base-running, saw their league lead dwindle to three games Thursday night with a 5-3 loss to Milwaukee Braves.

The defeat, the Phillies' fourth straight and sixth in seven games, sliced their advantage in the loss column to two over second-place Cincinnati Reds, who were idle. Even St. Louis Cardinals vaulted into the act, sweeping a doubleheader from Pittsburgh Pirates and moving to within 3½ games of Philadelphia.

The running in question struck in the seventh inning with the Braves leading 3-0. With one out, Richie Allen singled, only the second hit off Wade Blasingame. Alex Johnson grounded to Blasingame whose throw pulled Sandy Alomar off second base. Allen, however, slid past the base, and Alomar pounced on him for the out.

Vic Power then hit a dribbler toward third. Johnson raced to second, rounded the base and promptly was thrown out by Ed Matthews.

The abortive rally appeared even more important when the Phillies exploded for three runs in the eighth after the Braves got two more in their half of the inning.

MAUCH DEFENDS ALLEN — But Philadelphia manager Gene Mauch refused to criticize Allen and Johnson.

"Allen slides aggressively into second trying to break up the double play and doesn't even know the umpire has called him safe," Mauch argued. "He over-slides . . . he was so intent on taking out the relay man."

"And Johnson has no way to know that Eddie Matthews won't throw to first on the dribbler. He rounded second figuring to take third and maybe score if Matthews makes a bad throw on a tough play."

St. Louis defeated Pittsburgh 4-2 and 4-0 while Chicago Cubs nipped Los Angeles Dodgers 4-3 in the other National League games Thursday. None were scheduled in the American League.

The AL race resumes tonight with New York Yankees, leading Baltimore Orioles and Chicago White Sox by four games, playing at Washington against the Senators. The Orioles visit Cleveland Indians while the White Sox play the Athletics at Kansas City. The Yankees have won nine straight.

Joe Torre led the Braves' attack, driving in three runs with two triples. His eighth-inning blast skipped by right fielder Johnny Callison—who tried for a shoestring catch—and brought home Hank Aaron and Matthews.

SNUFFS OUT RALLY — Callison singled in two runs in the three-run Phillie eighth, but Chi Chi Olivo, who was recalled from Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League early in the season, relieved Blasingame and snuffed out the rally. Jim Bunning suffered his sixth defeat against 18 victories.

Bob Gibson (17-11) scattered nine hits in the opener, and Ray Sadecki (19-10) came back with a five-hitter in the second game as the Cardinals swept the Pirates.

Bill White's bases-loaded single in the fifth inning drove in two decisive runs in the opener.

FISHING REPORT

Light-Tackle Clan Hitting Big Coho

Methods may vary in different areas, but this is the time anglers who like to take their salmon on light tackle have been waiting for.

It's the time of the big coho.

There has been some spectacular fishing for the silvers heading for spawning streams and in most waters they can be taken on limber rods and flimsy leaders.

Many fishermen are using no weight and few are fastening more than four ounces to their lines.

Largest coho are hitting at Port Renfrew, Campbell River, Cowichan Bay and, in lesser numbers, between Victoria and Sooke. Faster fishing, for smaller silvers, is being provided at Qualicum Beach, Deep Cove, Saanich Inlet, Sidney Island and Northwest Bay.

Gibbs T-Spoons and Cowichan spinners with red golf tees are doing the trick in San Juan Bay at Port Renfrew. Abalone spoons and the combination of pearl spinner and long, light-colored bucktail fly are fooling fish at Cowichan.

Off Qualicum the magic lures are green-and-white bucktails. At Campbell River or Northwest Bay it is either red and white or blue and white. In Saanich Inlet and off Deep Cove, super strip teasers and bucktails (dark blue or Coronation) are taking coho up to 14 pounds.

Boundaries have been lifted at Cowichan Bay, improving chances of coho anglers.

New type runs are still coming into Alberni Inlet and P. Pemberton of Olympia, Wash., took a 64½-pounder off Port Alberni Thursday evening.

Capilano Gets Meet

The 1965 B.C. sectional figure skating championships will be held at Vancouver's Capilano Winter Club in mid-January.

ATHLETIC PARK LIGHTS SHINE ON PREP TEAMS

Victoria's Inter-High Senior Soccer League opens its 1964-65 schedule tonight with two arch-rival sides squaring off amid a dash of pageantry and whoo-de-do.

Royal Athletic Park's floodlights will be focused on Oak Bay and Victoria High in the game scheduled to kick off at 7:30. Cheerleaders and bands from both schools will be standing in the wings to pep up action between whistles.

All-Stars Named To Tackle United

The Pacific Coast Soccer League parts its curtains on the 1964-65 season this weekend, but Victoria United will wait a week before taking its cue.

Still, United will be busy. Victoria's entry in the premier coast circuit will wind up a strenuous exhibition schedule by facing Victoria All-Stars at Royal Athletic Park Saturday afternoon.

Lining up with the District League stars will be Bob Moore, Roy St. Denis, Jim Clark, Don McIntosh, Al Metcalfe, Bob Urichson, Bruce Pollard, Barry Cosler, Maurice Bunyan, Cino Bressen, Jorgen Stoesse, Volker Stoldt, John Rostrom, Ron Stubblings, Archie Harris, Ernie Eastlake, Ralph Marwood, Bob Marsden and Benny Erbuorbe.

Carl Pedersen will manage the selects.

LEAGUE OPENERS

The PCSL opens Saturday on the mainland with New Westminster meeting Vancouver Canadians in Callister Park, while Joe Johnson's UBC Thunderbirds play North Shore United in Kinsmen Park in North Vancouver.

Newly-crowned Canadian champion Columbus will tackle Firefighters in Sunday's game at Callister.

Victoria's first league game will be played at Royal Athletic Park Oct. 3 against Canadians.

A full schedule will feature District League activity on the Sabbath. In first division Combination Soccer League clubs swing into a new season Saturday with four matches.

League champion Royal Roads will play at Duncan, Victoria Rangers will meet Navy at Topaz Park and Falcons will tackle Island Tug at Bullen Park in 2 p.m. tussles.

One morning game is carded, Firefighters facing HMCS Malahat on the Beacon Hill pitch at 10.

A QUESTION OF GIRTH is the problem creasing the brow of genial Hollywood-TV star Sebastian Cabot as he considers the costume he hopes to wear at tonight's Theatre Arts Ball at the Crystal Garden. The rotund actor thinks he may have put on a little weight since he started spending his between-schedule leisure time under the balmy skies of Victoria's Saanich Peninsula.

ask Andy

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Bruce McCaib, age 12, of North Vancouver, B.C., Canada, for his question:

What is spirogyra?

"Once in a while it's fun to go on a leisurely safari through the world of nature. One of the most surprising places to investigate is a quiet pond, and the big surprises appear when you examine small items under a hand lens or a microscope. One of these items is likely to be a scrap of slippery, slimy spirogyra.

We all have seen wads of spirogyra on the surface of quiet ponds or clinging to the edges of lazy creeks. The tangled mass of slippery threads is a weed of fresh waters and a member of the alga plant family. Like all its alga relatives, it is a simple plant constructed from cells that are all alike. It has no cells that act only as roots, no special cells that do the work of leaves and nothing else. Each spirogyra cell is a single plant in its own right, able to multiply and support itself using sunlight to manufacture its own food.

In everyday language, the floating wad of slippery spirogyra has been called green silk, pond scum or frog spittle. Actually it is a colony of longish alga cells linked together like sausages. The single cells show up when a strip of the thread is examined under a microscope. When properly prepared with dyes to bring out the structure of the plant, each cell seems to be stuffed with a winding spiral that coils from side to side along the cell walls.

Several Kinds

There are several varieties of this water weed, each with slight differences. They are named spirogyra from the spirals stuffed inside the cells that form those long matted threads of floating greenery. When the time comes to multiply, the spirogyra has two methods for handing on life to a new generation. Like many single-celled plants and animals, each cell of spirogyra can multiply by dividing into a pair of twins. Like many more sophisticated plants it can produce a batch of seeds or rather seedlets.

The seedlets of the spirogyra are actually spores. They start to form when two of the green threads arrange themselves side by side. The nuclei or vital cores from two cells migrate together through the cell walls and merge. Each nucleus carries the magic chemicals to order a cell to make a reproduction of its parents. The pair of merged nuclei develops into dozens of spores, each able to make a reproduction of its parent spirogyra cells.

Ponds and lazy creeks tend to dry up during droughts and long spells of dry weather. Plants which make their homes in these waters must be able to cope with hard times. The spirogyra can survive long droughts because it can produce spores. These tiny seedlets wear tough shells to preserve their moisture, and they can remain in their spore stage until the rains bring supplies of fresh water to their private swimming pools.

Drumlins?
Andy sends a World Book Atlas to Sheila Barton, age eight, of Vanleek Hill, Ont., Canada, for her question:

What are drumlins?
You surely have heard of gremlins, those bouncy cousins of Andy, your pixie friend. Well, drumlins are not related to gremlins or pixies or leprechauns. Drumlins are not related to any of these little people who live in the wonderful never-never world. They belong in the very real world of everyday. In fact, drumlins belong to the real and solid earth. Each one is a hump or a bump of the ground.

The drumlin was named by the same people who named the pixies and the leprechauns. Drumlins were their name for a hill. To them a drumlin was a long hill or ridge—and that is what the experts who study the face of the earth still call a drumlin. It is a special hill of gritty gravel, pebbles and stony debris left behind by an old glacier. In its lifetime, the glacier toiled along all kinds of dirty debris and shoved more piles of debris ahead as it pushed forward. When it melted, this debris was left behind in the long hills known as drumlins.

Winter Carnival Set

ever did. A more than Johnnie Ray when he was crying himself a fortune... and, though I regret to say it, they get louder and more piercing squeals than were ever squealed at my idol, Frank Swoonatra.

I've been a die-hard on this... but, the gentleman yields. My Beautiful Wife and I shuddered at the Paramount last Sunday night... above us was the balcony... hundreds of little girls were jumping up and down... Edie Gorme claimed later that she saw the balcony swaying.

"It might crash down on us," my B.W. said, in terror.

"It's all right, they're going to tear the building down," was my feeble answer.

I asked Leonard Goldenson, head of ABC, a veteran in the life of the Paramount, whether Frank Sinatra had caused this bedlam 22 or 23 years ago when girls were fainting in the aisles.

"No," he said. "But there was a difference. Sinatra's fans listened when he sang."

The ear-splitting shrieks these little girls kept up while the Beatles performed is a whole Freudian research project, I suspect. These little girls had somehow obtained tickets at $10 to $100 to "hear" the Beatles—but never heard them... instead, they leaped up and down, chased crazily through the aisles, hurled jelly beans, or coins, or jewelry... and sometimes fell into uncontrollable sobbing and had to be helped, or even carried out.

"What's THAT shrieking for?" I asked once... the Beatles weren't on stage.

"That's for Ringo's beloved drum," my B.W. said. "Somebody just placed it on stage."

Once I even lost the sweet disposition for which I'm famous and yelled at a teen-ager standing in the aisle during the show to "SIDDOWN, YOU!"

I was sorry the Beatlemania passion contributed to cheating. Little girls swore they were newspaper reporters, or that they had lost their tickets.

Life Magazine's Tom my Thompson had a strange experience. Two girls asked him for his seat stubs as souvenirs. He surrendered them to the nice little girls.

Later, while in his seat, he was asked by an usher to show his seat stubs. Two other little girls—accomplices of the first two—had told the usher that he was sitting in their seats—and they had the seat stubs to prove it.

Steve Lawrence, m.c. of the Cerebral Palsy benefit with his wife Eydie Gorme, said, anyway, that a lot more Beatle records would be sold. People who had found that the young fans' screaming drowned out their songs would certainly wish, now, to find what they sounded like.

Two UBC Scientists to Join Expedition to Chilean Island

Two University of B.C. zoologists will take part in a Canadian expedition of medical scientists to Easter Island in the South Pacific.

Included in the 25-man expedition, which leaves Halifax Nov. 14, will be Dr. Ian Efford, assistant professor of zoology, and graduate student Jack A. Mathias, 5751 Balsam.

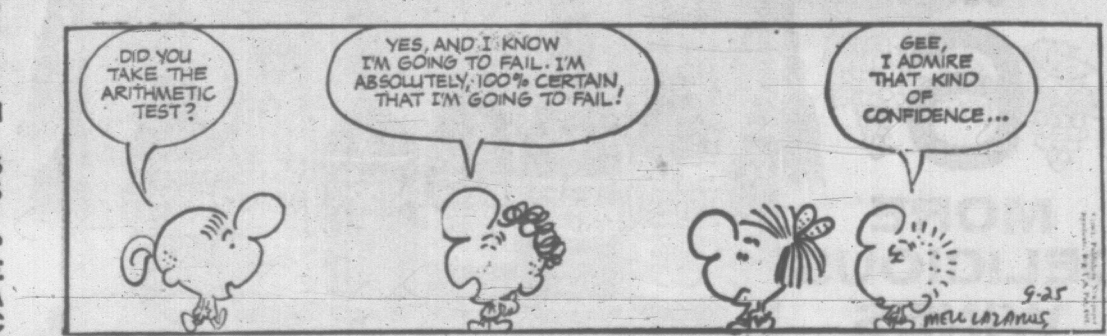

Dr. Efford and his assistant will carry out studies in the field of ecology on Easter Island, a possession of Chile, about 2,500 niles west of the South American coastline.

Ecology is the study of the relationships of plants and animals to their environment.

Dr. Efford says he plans to join the Royal Canadian naval repair ship HMCS Cape Scott, which is taking the team to Easter Island, at Panama.

The expedition will arrive at Easter Island Dec. 14 and leave in mid-February. The ship is expected back at Halifax on March 17.

Land Use Control A 'Must'

A visiting New Zealand scientist wonders how B.C. can delay legislation to control land use in the face of a population explosion.

James Raeside, here with his wife and family since July 6, left today by air for their home in Dunedin, where Mr. Raeside is principal scientific officer, South Island, for the department of science and industrial research.

While here and on the mainland he was able to observe conditions with a parallel in New Zealand, where stringent legislation has been passed in order to preserve vanishing agricultural lands from encroaching urban development.

"I can't help but notice the expansion of urban development in the fertile Fraser Valley, which I first saw in 1949," Mr. Raeside said. He saw it again in 1959, when his family last visited Victoria, home of Mrs. Raeside's parents, Sir Charles and Lady Wright.

Wrangles

"There have been some frightful wrangles and large sums of money spent in litigation trying to find holes in our legislation, but it's been upheld," Mr. Raeside said.

The 1961 act sets up tribunals to regulate the affairs of all local bodies in the country, including the use of soil and supervision of boundaries.

"Purpose is to ensure that local governments adhere to the principles of planning, including the preservation of high productive land," said the visitor, who is a soils chemist.

Such a commission can refuse to sanction the acquisition of fertile land by a municipality that wishes to extend its boundaries.

New Zealand, a primary producing country, has about 5 per cent land area that is first class for agricultural purposes, 45 per cent of limited agricultural potential including sheep grazing, and 50 per cent unarable "steep-land."

Best Use

The country is therefore concerned that it understands the nature of its resources and makes the best use of them, Mr. Raeside said.

Population is 2.5 million with a growth rate of about 2.5 per cent a year—fairly high as world rates go—meaning a doubling of citizens in under 30 years.

This will push the capacity of resources to provide for the people, and, the scientist adds:

"It is not too wild a conjecture to take a probable population of 20 million in 100 years. That's going to be a big strain on resources . . . This is not generally appreciated, but it's a hard fact."

B.C., by comparison, has limited prime agricultural area, a population of 1,742,000 and annual growth rate of 2.7 per cent. Vancouver alone, within 35 years, could have doubled population to more than 1,000,000.

ABERDEEN, S.D. (AP) — A "bouncing" baby girl of 10 pounds-plus was born Thursday night to Mrs. Andrew Fischer, who gave birth to quintuplets slightly more than one year ago.

The baby, who weighed 10 pounds, seven ounces and measured 21½ inches, and the mother are doing well at St. Luke's Hospital, a spokesman reported.

Arthur Mayse

We have a new little pet in our jumble of camp gear. It's called a catalytic heater, and if you haven't already discovered the virtues of these compact chill-chasers, you could do worse than investigate them.

Our heater is a neat cylinder about 10 inches high, with a domed, perforated top and a carrying handle.

Outdoors it wouldn't warm a grasshopper, but set it in a tent and it goes to work with safe, quiet efficiency.

The base holds a quart of white gasoline—you can buy special fuel, but it's not essential—and a filling is good for 24 hours.

Only nuisance thing about it is that the burner head must be primed with a sprinkle of wood alcohol before you touch it off. But once the blue alcohol flame has subsided and the top's on, you can forget about it.

I am not precisely a model of grace, especially at close quarters, and in the few weeks we've used our heater it has been kicked, tipped over, and (briefly) sat upon. No fumes, no flame. Except for that steady and comforting trickle of warmth, the rig advertises its presence only by a subdued glow through the holes in the removable casing.

★★★ We'd have bought one of these heaters much earlier, if several campers who claimed to have tested them hadn't talked them down.

"Sure," said one of these as we scrambled wood for a beach fire one November-like August evening. "They're safe enough. But they wouldn't take the chill out of a pup-tent."

A California couple seconded this pessimistic report.

"What you need is a heater like ours," they insisted, and displayed an impressive unit hooked to a pair of butane cylinders.

We admired this portable fireplace politely, but backed away. What we wanted, and all we wanted, was a dingus to chase the damp from our tent. That one would barbecue a salmon.

Discouraged, we continued to cheat the unseasonal weather with a quick dive into our sleeping bags. Once or twice, guiltily, we fetched a gas lantern into the tent for a warmup.

★★★ Then along came a family who set up camp with practiced smoothness, rigged a plastic roof and windbreak for their cooking area, and unloaded with their other equipment a heater precisely like the little $15 one we'd first inspected at Campbell River.

Later at the boat landing, we asked the newcomers how they liked their midge heating plant.

"Fine," was the answer. "It's no furnace, but it makes the difference."

And so, indeed, it did, as we learned next night when we kindled our new green heater and installed it in the tent. It didn't seem to be doing much of a job, and we were disappointed with it for a while. But in a very few minutes, the evening darkness of a canvas habitation vanished, and come morning, getting up was darn near a pleasure.

Our heater is the smaller of two sizes, and for a cabin-type tent, I think the larger one might prove a better investment. Price difference is about $10.

★★★ So much for that useful addition to a camp outfit we've been cautious about lumbering up with gimmicks. I foresee plenty of non-camping trips on which it will be a worthy companion, among them our frostbite excursions after what Puget Sound fishermen call blackmouths, and we up here have given the intriguing title of winter spring salmon.

One replacement was forced on us: the two-burner camp gas stove that served us these many years decided its time to retire had come.

The new stove is a lordly three-burner model, and we find that extra ration of space and cooking heat very nice to have.

It, too, will come in handy some day this winter when the big winds blow, the power goes out, and company's coming for dinner.

Uvic Speakers Rip Into Governments For Penny-Pinching

By JIM BUCKLEY
Times Uvic Correspondent

A panel of key University of Victoria personalities Thursday night hit repeatedly at "government parsimony."

They indicated that insufficient funds may be leading to higher tuition fees, higher entrance standards, and a slowed-down building program.

"We may very well be forced to raise entrance requirements to 60, 70 or 80 per cent, simply because we are not getting enough money from governments to supply classroom space, library space and laboratories," warned Prof. Roger Bishop during a frothy orientation seminar at the Student Union Building.

"I'll fight this to the death," he said.

'Live' Show By Artillery On Weekend

One hundred militia gunners will compete in a live shoot this weekend at Albert Head for the Harris trophy awarded annually to the best gun detachment.

Maj. T. G. Dalzell, CD, commanding officer of the 5th (B.C.) Independent Medium Battery, RCA, reported 30 members of the cadet corps also will take part in the exercise.

A convoy of 10 vehicles will leave the Bay Street Armoury at 9 a.m. Saturday.

FORMER LEADER

Maj. Dalzell said the firing exercise will include competition for the Harris trophy presented in honor of Col. Ches Harris, former commanding officer of the 5th.

The trophy is awarded to the gun detachment having best marks in general efficiency, fire drill and maintenance of equipment.

The firing of the 105-mm. Howitzers will take place Sunday morning with Capt. Terry O'Brian and Capt. Chris Christiansen as observers from area headquarters in Vancouver.

Capt. A. E. Sherwin, the battery's training officer, will be in charge of the shoot.

Only 4 New Fires, One of Quietest Seasons for B.C.

Only four new forest fires were reported in B.C. this week.

The provincial forest service described this year's fire season as "one of B.C.'s quietest."

At last report, 14 fires were still burning. Damp, cool conditions were expected to eliminate any serious fire hazard.

From May 1, there have been 1,102 fires costing $124,100 to fight. In the same period last year, there were 2,289 fires costing $398,200.

'... Innocent When You Arrive, You Won't Be When You Leave'

In the course of pursuing a story on the handling of foster children, Miss Marge Gilroy found herself disturbed by reports of how wayward girls are handled at the Willingdon School for girls in Burnaby. Miss Gilroy, who is a registered nurse turned newspaper woman, pursued the matter in talks with inmates, a visit to the school and discussions with welfare and adoption officials. In five articles she reports what she has found. The first follows:

By MARGE GILROY

When a teen-aged girl is sentenced in juvenile court to an undetermined period in Willingdon School for Girls she goes there with a chip on her shoulder.

For the next two weeks, or maybe two months, she will find herself in a small single room in the admission wing of the Burnaby institution where she will meet supervisors, social workers and other staff members.

There are three social workers, two academic school teachers, one physical education instructor, one recreation director, a hairdressing and sewing instructor, a nurse and several cottage supervisors.

There is a total staff of 50, of which seven are men.

There is a consultant psychiatrist and the nearby mental health centre is used in cases of emergency.

During the first two weeks a pre-sentence report and history are completed. From then on the staff meet twice a week to discuss the progress of each girl in the school.

'Why Should We?'

But as one girl said: "We don't tell them anything. They know all about us anyway. Why should we talk?"

When the staff has determined a program for the girl she is placed in one of the cottages equipped to handle as many as 20 girls.

For the first while some of the girls are better off just doing housework, said director Miss W. M. Urquhart. They may not even be encouraged to take part in any training program for the first few weeks.

"Many of the girls are hostile towards their social worker before ever coming here," she said.

It often takes a long time to break down this hostility, and sometimes they never do.

Few Prostitutes

The type of girl ranges from a dope addict to one who has run away from home. There are a few prostitutes, but many more are just promiscuous, said Miss Urquhart.

Supervisor M. R. Fisher commented on the change in the type of girl admitted to such schools in recent years. Previously they were hardened criminals, now they are picked up at an earlier age.

But one teen-ager who claims to have been innocent about homosexuality, prostitution and a dope addiction before going to the school, described all the girls as "depraved."

"If you are innocent when you come in here you won't be when you leave," she said.

"But if you're not, it won't do anything to change you," she added.

They Don't Care

One ex-inmate of the school described the girls as not having any respect for the so-called decent people.

"They don't really think there is any such thing as justice and when they go AWOL they don't really care if they get caught," she said.

Inflation Protection Aim of Group

Protection against inflation for pensioners and affiliation with organized labor will be discussed at the annual meeting next month of the B.C. Employees' Association.

A resolution from the Nanaimo branch of the 8,000-member group said there is a steady loss of purchasing power because of inflation.

It asked the association to request the provincial government "to make provision for a fund to be set up to provide protection against inflation for those already receiving pensions."

A resolution from the executive asks that deductions be increased to 1/2 of one per cent from a 1/4, matched by the government, to increase pensions as employees' wages rise.

A resolution from Woodlands School for the Retarded in New Westminster asks for affiliation with the B.C. Federation of Labor.

The resolution said rejection of a ballot on this question also contained a petition for return of checkoff, "one contradicting the other."

The annual meeting will be held Oct. 23 in Vancouver.

Burglar Tools Send Two Men To Penitentiary

Two men found in possession of burglary tools were sent to the penitentiary this morning for two years by Magistrate William Ostler.

Barry Jackson, 480 Garbally, and Wilfred Humphreys, Lincoln Hotel, were arrested early one morning recently by police who found they had a pair of gloves and a bent screwdriver in their possession.

They were unable to give a satisfactory explanation to the magistrate today of how they came into possession. Both have long criminal records, court was told.

Miss Urquhart viewed some of the girls who run away as the most normal.

They are the girls who represent the barrier that is preventing them from doing what they want to do. Some of these girls do alright on the outside. Most are caught and returned.

"We always have a break-out when we are over-crowded," said Miss Urquhart.

In security the girl is locked in a single cell with a bare mattress on the floor and an open toilet and small sink in one corner.

In the door there is semi-circular opening through which their meals are passed.

The bottom half of the window is bricked up, and the walls bear the gouges of angry girls. There is no smoking and no visiting.

Status Symbol

Going AWOL is almost like a status symbol at the school.

Mr. Fisher described the attitude of the girls as such that if they didn't run away they were telling the others that they liked it there. No one would dare make such an admission.

To be "in" many feel they must make at least one escape.

The gate is never locked, except at night, but the escapes are usually made over the fence.

Through pictures of teen-age idols, like the Beatles, inmates at the Willingdon School for Girls keep in touch with the outside world.

Winds Buffet All Coastline, But Clear Fog

Six Emergencies Reported at Sea

A windstorm raced down the B.C. coast overnight causing considerable damage but sweeping Victoria International Airport and the Island coastline clear of lingering fog.

A number of small boats suffered.

RCAF search and rescue headquarters reported six marine emergencies along the coastline.

A 16-foot sailboat with two men aboard was reported missing off Saanich Peninsula, but found later in a sheltered cove.

BOAT CAPSIZES

Two unidentified men were rescued by an American tug after their boat capsized off Qualicum Beach. The tug took them to Nanaimo.

An unidentified sports fisherman disappeared in a 14-foot boat as winds gusted to 50 miles an hour off Gabriola Island—a few miles from Nanaimo.

SUN AHEAD

Four other men were rescued from small craft at the height of the storm.

Winds averaging 40 miles an hour in the Victoria area cleared the way for bright sunshine this morning. More sunny weather is expected, with a few fog patches in low-lying areas Saturday morning.

Temperatures are expected to drop to a low of 45 degrees tonight and climb to a high of 65 Saturday.

General weather picture for the weekend is sunny.

Medicare Inclusion Chiropractors' Aim

Inclusion of chiropractic care in all medicare schemes is sought by the Chiropractors' Association of B.C., meeting in convention at the Empress Hotel.

"Unless chiropractic care is recognized as a separate and distinct service, chiropractors will not be included in medicare schemes," said Dr. Wilfrid Morgan of Vancouver, who is B.C. member of the Canadian Chiropractic Association.

Dr. Morgan said the B.C. division of the College of Physicians and Surgeons has gone on record that it is "unethical" for medical doctors to refer a patient to a chiropractor.

RECOGNITION

"Therefore we must seek recognition from the federal and provincial governments," Dr. Morgan said the Ontario government has approved loans to chiropractic students, and application for the same recognition has been made to the B.C. government.

"For many years the expense of educating chiropractors has fallen on members of the profession. We feel government assistance is long overdue, so that we can improve our facilities and obtain university status."

Dr. Morgan said a $1,500,000 expansion program is planned by the Canadian Memorial Chiropractic College—the only one in the British Commonwealth.

"There are only 1,000 chiropractors in Canada and they have pledged $235,000 towards the campaign."

Some 60 chiropractors from B.C., Alberta and Washington are attending the three-day convention. Speakers include Dr. E. R. Reinhardt of Kitchener, Ont., and Dr. Gary Gleason, faculty member of the Canadian Chiropractic College.

Victoria lawyer Lloyd McKenzie, QC, will be guest speaker at a banquet and dance in the Crystal Ballroom Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

Skipper Flushes Suspect In Rape

Beach Fire Leads To Sooke Arrest

By DESMOND BILL

A 38-year-old man suspected of being a rapist fell into a police trap this morning and was arrested.

The man had been hunted by police since last Saturday night when a 15-year-old girl was sexually assaulted in East Sooke.

RCMP sealed off the Sooke peninsula and then scoured through it using tracking dogs. On Thursday police flew across the thick bush in a helicopter.

This morning the fugitive lit a fire on the beach near Beechey Head. Police said he hoped to be picked up by a passing fishing boat and taken to Victoria.

But instead he was spotted by Capt. Fred Vosper of the Gulf Ranger tug owned by Rivtow Marine Ltd. of Victoria. The skipper brought his boat as close to shore as he dared but he couldn't land because his vessel didn't have a skiff.

Capt. Vosper headed as fast as possible to Sooke where he picked up an RCMP officer and returned to the beach.

The officer hid below deck in the tug's cabin and a crew member, Bob Sheret, went ashore in a light skiff that had been taken aboard in Sooke.

The suspect, bearded and hungry, climbed in the skiff with Sheret and the two went aboard the tug. As soon as the man got on the deck he was arrested by the officer who came out of the cabin.

Police said the man was then brought to Sooke aboard the tug. He was to appear in court this afternoon to face a charge of rape.

Police said the assault took place outside a home in East Sooke where the girl had gone with her parents and other relatives in response to an advertisement.

The suspect is reported to have no fixed address but is believed to have lived in East Sooke for about 10 days prior to the offence.

Sooke RCMP were in charge of the case. Hours after the assault they sealed off the only main road that leads into the East Sooke peninsula. They were confident all week that the suspect was bottled up on the peninsula.

The only way out, apart from the road, was through thick bush that would be almost impassable in darkness or by sea.

Ask The Times

Q. Can you tell me the purpose of the yellow squares on North Saanich roads? P.T.

A. The yellow marks, 12 to 18 inches square, are photo identification marks, used in conjunction with air surveys performed by the provincial department of lands. Prior to an air survey, these points are painted on a suitable surface for air identification and the distance between them is measured exactly. The known distance enables map makers to establish an exact ground scale for their maps based on air photos of the area.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Watching Your Diet? This Column's For You

By PENNY SAVER

Today I'd like to direct my column to those people who are vegetarians, diet-restricted, or simply watching their weight. The store I shopped in today has a section of foods especially for them.

To start the day off right, store has a breakfast drink which is made the same way as coffee but is caffeine-free. Recommended for those on a sodium-restricted diet is a dietetic toast which is ideal for breakfast or as a snack. This sells for 47 cents a package.

Pickles are always a colorful and tasty addition to any meal and, for those on a sugar-restricted diet, there are relishes and sweet pickles minus that calorie-climber, sugar. These vary in price from 29 cents to 35 cents.

Nibbling between meals is a habit most of us have. Gum is one item which will take the edge off hunger pangs during those long hours between meals. The sugarless gum I found comes in a package of five for 65 cents and is in assorted flavors. Rolls of candy sell for 10 cents a package and diabetics will find these a useful guard against an advancing coma.

For vegetarians who do not wish to, or are unable to eat meat products, store has a vegetable paste which can be used in sandwiches, salads or spread on crackers to be used as canapés. These are 33 cents a can.

A delicious ice cream for diabetics can be made by adding a special, artificially-sweetened jelly powder to powdered milk and cold water. Freeze it and you have a delicious and nourishing dessert. Jellies and puddings come in assorted flavors and a package containing three envelopes costs 27 cents.

Other health foods such as fruit, jellied spreads, and health flours can be bought here. Store also supplies diet sheets containing information about items and their contents. As a further service to customers, a trained home economist is there to give added information about the uses and values of these foods.

If you're interested in any of these products, give Penny a call at 382-3131 and she'll tell you where to shop.

THE BETTER HALF

By Bob Barnes

"Just drive me slowly around the downtown streets—I don't remember where I parked my car."

Two days of social activities have been planned for wives who accompanied their husbands to the annual convention of the Chiropractors' Association of British Columbia, which began at the Empress Hotel today. Among those attending are, left to right, Mrs. G. R. Clay, Victoria; Mrs. E. R. Reinhart, Kitchener, Ont., wife of the main speaker; Mrs. W. R. N. Sturdy, Vancouver, wife of the president; Mrs. E. T. Cornhill, Duncan, and Mrs. W. O. Morgan, Vancouver.

National Head of Anglican Group Here on Visit From Kitchener

Members of the British Columbia Anglican Diocesan Board were treated to an inside view of the work of the Anglican Woman's Auxiliaries in Canada, their future and prospective changes when they met this afternoon at a meeting held in St. Martin's-in-the-Field church hall.

Mrs. J. Robertson, dominion president, who is here from Kitchener, Ont., was the guest speaker.

Mrs. Robertson, who arrived here Thursday evening, states: "There has been a great upsurge of interest in the church since the Congress, particularly in women's groups."

"Although there is concern in some places that people are breaking away from the church, in many others, we find that they are now turning back."

She adds, "Mid-week groups are very popular with the young people. Especially if the program is interesting."

However, she does admit that even these groups have their drawbacks.

"With so many of the people working through the day they find it harder to fit any mid-week activities into their schedules."

"Possibly this will be a major factor in bringing them back to church on Sundays."

Much of Mrs. Robertson's talk today was centred on ideas brought forth at the annual meeting she attended in Edmonton.

There she presented the presidential address. She's since spoken to groups in Kamloops and Comox.

Mrs. Robertson has been a diocesan member "for some 30 years," has worked on the executive in three different dioceses and has been a member of the national organization for a number of years. At present she is entering her third term of office as president.

Unlike many other churches that have two national organizations, the Anglican Church has only one—the Woman's Auxiliary.

"It is the whole workings of the church. And, it began as a missionary group before becoming the Woman's Auxiliary in 1947."

A married woman with three married children, she proudly adds, "I'm also a grandmother—six times."

This is only her second visit to Victoria but she is hoping that her work will bring her back again.

She will leave on Saturday for a week-long holiday with a cousin on the mainland before returning to Vancouver where she will attend the 60th anniversary celebrations of the WA there.

From there she will go to Trail before returning to eastern Canada.

Baby Hotel In Central Saanich Enjoying A Roaring Business

VICTORIA (CP)—None of the guests has complained so far, but conditions at The Sunshine certainly aren't like home. They're not meant to be.

Despite not having a bar or a dining room, and only one bedroom for all the guests to share, the hotel is one of this city's busiest.

The guests aren't allowed to leave the grounds and must be in bed by 8 p.m. Their mail, if any, is opened for them. And meals must be eaten.

All the guests are under three years of age.

Now in its second year, the Sunshine Baby Hotel in Central trade. The hotel was founded by Margot and Irmgard Liedtke, German-born sisters, who dreamed up the idea while working as nurses at St. Joseph's Hospital here.

Saanich is doing a booming

The dream became reality when their own brothers sold them the house they took over for the hotel.

Most of the children stay at the hotel for one or two weeks while their parents vacation. Others go while mother is in hospital.

GIRL GUIDES

Meet at Camp—The Sealake District Local Association for Girl Guides held a recent meeting at Kingswood Camp. Also present were representatives of local churches, social services and Parent-Teacher Association groups. Members not familiar with the campsite were taken on a tour. Election of officers was held and plans outlined for a country fair, to be held Oct. 24 at the Church-by-the-Lake, Elk Lake. Coffee was served.

ADDISON-WILLIAMS VOWS

BRIDE WEARS HEIRLOOM LOCKET

A gold locket belonging to her maternal grandmother was "something old" worn by Bonnie Sharon Williams when she exchanged marriage vows with John Walker Addison.

Her floor-length gown of organza over net was styled with simple rounded neckline and lily-point sleeves. Back interest was created with an organza rose. Her four-tier tulle veil misted to shoulder-length from a floral headpiece and only jewelry was pearl earrings, gift of the groom. American Beauty roses and white feathered carnations formed her cascade bouquet.

Rev. Robert D. Holmes officiated at the ceremony that united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Williams, 981 McBriar Avenue, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Addison of Vancouver. Mr. Williams gave his daughter in marriage.

Central Baptist Church was decorated with white and pink dahlias and matching pew markers for the evening ceremony.

Mrs. Arthur Clatworthy, aunt of the bride, sang "O Perfect Love" during signing of the register.

Maid of honor, Miss Della Whitmore wore a gown of light rose pink satin with matching floral and net headpiece and shoes on tone and carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations.

Bridesmaids, the Misses Penny Rastley and Darleen Hinton wore similar gowns of shocking pink satin with headpieces and shoes on tone and carried white carnations.

All wore crystal necklaces, gifts of the bride.

CGIT

Five Hundred At 50th Anniversary Reunion

TORONTO (CP)—Fifty years ago an organization was formed in Canada solely for teen-age girls.

Now, with 50,000 girls between the ages of 12 and 17 active in Dominion-wide groups, the Canadian Girls in Training began celebrating its 50th anniversary Thursday by holding the first major event of its anniversary year—a reunion in Toronto of more than 500 former members.

Dr. Winnifred Thomas, national secretary of the CGIT's founding body from 1918 to 1925, said in an interview the organization was the first to recognize the distinctive needs and characteristics of adolescent girls.

She said one of its fundamental objectives, and one that has not changed, is to keep the groups relatively small, because teen-agers must be treated as individuals rather than en-masse. Ruth Tillman, present national secretary, said that several hundred thousand girls have passed through the ranks. In 1924, there were 30,119 girls in 2,766 groups.

Dr. Thomas said Toronto, Hamilton and Belleville, Ont., were the experimental centres for the church-centred programs. The CGIT program spread quickly because it could be conducted in small towns and rural areas as well as in large cities.

During the current year, the group hopes to send $50,000 to Indonesia to build a Christian education conference centre.

Vancouver Home After Honeymoon In South

On return from a honeymoon trip to California, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stanley Wilkins will make their home in Vancouver.

The bride is the former Miss Jeanette Isabell Ellen Wight, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Wight, 1033 Monterey Ave. The groom's parents are Mrs. O. V. Wilkins, 1115 Collinson Street, and R. H. Wilkins, Asquith, Sask.

Metropolitan United Church was decorated with baskets of white crystal chrysanthemums and gladioli with green foliage, for the ceremony at which Rev. A. E. King officiated.

During the ceremony, the bride's brother, Robert Wight, sang "Because."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of heavy peau de sole that featured lily point sleeves and rounded neckline. Pearl beadwork ap-

They complemented their ensembles with whimsies of aqua satin rosettes and net veiling. White crystal chrysanthemums and satin ribbons en tone formed their bouquets.

Clifford Wilkins was best man for his brother and, ushering guests were Ronald Wilkins, another brother, and Barry Trumble, Vancouver.

A pink and white cake, flanked by pink candles, centred the bride's table at a reception that followed in the Crystal Garden. Raymond Wardell proposed the toast to his niece.

For travelling, the bride donned a three-piece knit outfit in smoky blue with bone maribou hat and matching accessories. Pale apricot Johanna Hill roses were in her corsage.

In the fall fashions collection—suits for all occasions and romantic young ball gowns in Junior Miss size Gibson Girls all but steal the show from the more staidly elegant outfits. Suits from $25.00.

"Tom Jones" at College
Back-to-school fashion in the high school and college league shows no diversion from the A-line.

Shifts and jumpers are being featured by the Gibson Girl for the fall, mostly in double knits or tweeds.

Herringbone and diagonal tweeds adapt nicely to princess lines, and are accented with half-belts or leather trim.

Braid, buckles and brass buttons abound, to give a sport look. Frills are seen on more dressy outfits.

The "Tom Jones" look appears in low-necked dresses or sweaters or dickeys. Detachable dickeys, and even cuffs in some cases, solve the cleaning needs of many costumes.

Another English style popular this fall is the Chelsea look—deep V-necks with point collars. Choirboy collars (sort of enlarged Peter Pan with a narrow black bow) are shown on a lot of dark striped shifts, either in self fabric or white.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Convince Him—And Fast!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I accidentally found out that the man I married 16 years ago had never been legally divorced. I was advised to have a second marriage ceremony performed. To my dismay, Mr. W. received the idea as a joke and refused. I am 62 and Mr. W. will be 80 in two weeks. I am worried about my future. My lawyer advised me that according to law I am not Mr. W.'s legal wife, and I cannot claim his estate or get social security. I even got our priest to talk to him, but it didn't help. Mr. W. is the most generous man in the world and would give me the moon if I asked for it, but he will not consent to another ceremony. Can you help me?—MRS. (or am I?) W.

DEAR "MRS. (I wish I knew)": The priest can tell Mr. W. what is pleasing in the eyes of the Lord, and your lawyer can tell him the requirements of the law, but you'd better get your generous Mr. W. to skip the moon—and provide for your security right here on earth.

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem. I saw the organist of our church with a married man. And he wasn't hers. Should I tell the pastor to talk to her before she breaks up the marriage or should I mind my own business? I somehow feel that it is my Christian duty to set her straight. Don't tell me it is only my imagination. I had heard rumors about these two, which at first I did not believe. But when you see two people, in a secluded spot away from the busy roads, what else can you believe?—CHRISTIAN DUTY

DEAR DUTY: Even though the organist appears to have pulled all the stops out, I'd pipe down if I were you. You don't know all you should exercise your "Christian duty," which also recommends that to err is human, to forgive divine.

DEAR ABBY: My mother asked me never to walk into her bedroom without knocking first and I have always respected her wishes. I am 15 and think I should have the same privilege, so I asked her to please knock on my bedroom door before coming in. Now she just bangs on the door once and barges in and says, "Does THAT satisfy you?"

Then she reminds me that I am living in HER house and she has a right to go into any room she pleases whenever she wishes. What do you think of a mother like mine?—NO PRIVACY

DEAR NO: Your mother is wrong and I hope she realizes it and changes her ways soon, because that's precisely the kind of material action that makes children want to leave home as soon as they become of age.

DEAR ABBY: No problem, just a great big thank you for printing that excerpt from your book, DEAR TEEN-AGER, designed to help the teen-aged girl with an age-old problem: How to control a boy who insists on making improper advances, saying all the while that if she loved him she would let him.

Well, Abby, I am no teen-ager. I am a young woman in my thirties, but I cut out that item and placed it in my purse for future use. The advice is good for a woman of any age who is constantly pressured by a persistent Romeo. I have never known how to handle the problem without leaving the man angry, disgusted and thinking I was square. From now on it will be easy. I will simply reach into my purse, hand the excerpt to the guy and let it speak for me. I have a feeling it will save me a struggle and many words.—AVID READER

TODAY'S RECIPE

ORANGE-DATE DESSERT BREAD

Two and three-quarter cups once-sifted all-purpose flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 2/3 cup chopped pitted dates, 3 teaspoons finely grated orange rind, ¼ cup soft margarine or butter, ½ cup granulated sugar, 1 egg, ¼ cup orange juice, 1¼ cups milk, ¼ teaspoon vanilla, ¼ cup orange juice, 2 teaspoons granulated sugar.

Preheat oven to 350 deg. F. (moderate). Thoroughly grease 9x5-inch loaf pan.

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Stir in dates and orange rind. Set aside.

Cream margarine or butter. Cream in ½ cup sugar until fluffy and blended. Beat in egg. Combine ¼ cup orange juice with milk and vanilla. Add to creamed mixture alternately with dry ingredients, beginning and ending with latter, blending well after each addition. Spread in prepared pan.

Bake in preheated moderate oven (350 deg. F) 50 to 60 minutes, or until cake tester inserted in centre comes out clean. Let stand 10 minutes on cooling rack; then turn out of pan. Slowly pour remaining orange juice over top of loaf; sprinkle remaining sugar on top. Don't cut until thoroughly cool. To store, wrap tightly in foil or plastic film. (Keeps several days). Makes one 9x5-inch loaf.

Window Shades of Fabric In Bedspread? It's Easy

Dear Eunice:

Window shades seem to be coming back in style. This time they are made of the same fabric as the bedspreads to co-ordinate a bedroom. I would like to make some but my material isn't too heavy and I'm afraid the shades will be too sleazy looking. Is there anything I can do to make them look professional?

MRS. J. S.

Dear Mrs. J. S.: One of the most attractive bedrooms I have ever seen was done by a friend of mine. The way we treated her material produced perfect shades.

Trim off the selvage edges of fabric. Turn and press a single edge ¼-inch wide on the long edges of the shade. Carefully cut light-weight non-woven PRESS-ON interfacing the same size as the finished shade. Press to the back of your fabric according to instructions. This will give you the body you need without too much weight.

Finish with a hem at the lower edge about 1-inch wide for a strip of wood to be slipped in the hem to assure a firm edge.

If you care to attach fringe, rickrack, scallops or whatever to the lower edge, the fold for the strip of wood should be about 4 to 5 inches above the finished edge of your shade.

Now! The 1965 Falcon... Lively World of Economy

1965 FALCON FUTURA 2-DOOR HARDTOP, A TOTAL PERFORMANCE FORD BUILT IN CANADA.

Certain features mentioned or illustrated are optional at extra cost.

This spirited new Falcon is the proven performer of the compacts. The popular Falcon now offers important engineering refinements, new styling and of course its famous economy and low price. Falcon's lively new economy is the result of improvements to engines and transmissions.

Falcon's engines and transmission give more power and acceleration in every power team from the most gas miserly Six to the hot new V-8s. Choose your power from the improved 170 cubic inch 105-hp Six, the all-new 200 cubic inch 120-hp Six (optional with Cruise-O-Matic) or one of three 289 V-8s rated at 200, 225 and 271-hp. Couple these engines with the three-speed or four-speed manual transmission (fully synchronized with V-8s) or the 3-speed automatic for the smoothest driving ever.

For '65 you get even more gasoline economy from a Falcon. You'll get one extra mile per gallon just because we've changed the tires. (They've been redesigned to a new 'low profile'—the car rolls more freely and that takes a load off the engine).

Suspension and steering refinements bring you a smoother ride and better handling than you expect in a compact.

When you buy the '65 Falcon you save money. If you've lots of money—buy it anyway. ## Test-Tube Baby Claim Doubted

By CAROL KENNEDY

LONDON (CP)—British doctors and scientists are casting a somewhat sceptical eye on the claims of an Italian medical scientist, Dr. Daniele Petrucci, who says he has created 28 "test-tube babies" by artificial conception in the last five years.

He claims to have united sperm and ovum from husband and wife in a plastic apparatus he calls a "biological cradle," developed the embryo under conditions reproducing those in a human womb and implanted the "test-tube" baby back in the mother to be born eventually in the normal way.

What puzzles British medical men is that Petrucci seems reluctant to give detailed and up-to-date findings to the medical press.

British newspapers Thursday splashed pictures of Petrucci's laboratory apparatus at the University of Bologna, and blow-up microscopic photographs of the conception progress. Most neglected to mention the pictures are three years old. They first appeared, together with a paper by Petrucci, in July, 1961, in the British scientific journal Discovery.

REGISTERED TOO LATE

Petrucci, 41, now attending a scientific conference at Glasgow University, apparently came to Britain with the idea of presenting a paper to the conference, which deals with the use of oxygen at high pressures. But he registered too late and conference chairman Sir Charles Illingworth, president of the Royal College of Surgeons of Scotland, told him the timetable of lectures could not be altered to allow him to speak.

Research workers were given about a year's advance notice of the conference.

Petrucci has not approached either of Britain's leading medical journals, the Lancet and the British Medical Journal, to publish his findings.

A spokesman for the British Medical Association, which publishes the British Medical Journal, said if Petrucci submitted a paper, "it would presumably be published."

Why is Petrucci so reticent? He says he has kept his work secret from the general public to avoid publicity for the "test-tube" children, whom he claims are leading normal lives, scattered all over Italy.

But British researchers working in the same field are surprised Petrucci does not back up his claims within the medical fraternity.

'BIG STEP' FORWARD

Said one: "If Dr. Petrucci has succeeded in doing what he claimed, he has indeed taken a big step forward. He has succeeded in doing what we have been trying to do in this country—without success."

Petrucci's account to an Evening Standard reporter of his work at Bologna reads like something out of Aldous Huxley's Brave New World. The artificial conception in the "biological cradle" takes place between chamois leather discs to simulate the natural site of implantation. Plasma from other pregnant women is dropped in and the temperature carefully controlled.

Once the egg is fertilized, the embryo is fed by hormones and protein. Pressure inside the "cradle" is stopped up to allow more than 16 times the normal amount of oxygen to reach the embryo. Within eight days the embryo is planted back in the mother's womb.

Petrucci, a Roman Catholic, is uncertain how the Vatican will react to his experiments, which he says allow certain types of infertile women to have babies.

The embryos are only half artificial, he says, "but in Roman Catholic circles any interference with human life is morally wrong."

Declaration on Jews Applauded in Council

VATICAN CITY (AP) — One of the closest collaborators of Pope Paul told the Vatican ecumenical council today the Jewish people alone could not be held responsible for the crucifixion of Christ.

Augustin Cardinal Bea, presenting a revised declaration on Roman Catholic relations with Jews and other non-Christians, said the assembly could not put aside the matter despite the tremendous controversy it has created.

The council meeting hall in St. Peter's Basilica echoed with applause as the 83-year-old German Jesuit defended the declaration.

Cardinal Bea, president of the Vatican's secretariat for the promoting Christian unity, took the floor after the council debated another controversial document.

a draft declaration on religious liberty.

The declaration on the Jews and the one on religious liberty are part of a council scheme on Christian unity prepared by Cardinal Bea's secretariat.

The declaration on Jews was introduced last year, when it specifically said that all mankind, and not the Jews alone, were responsible for the crucifixion. In the nine-month recess between the council's second session and the current third one, the document was revised drastically.

No council document created as much controversy. Specific mention of the crucifixion was dropped. Some Jewish and Roman Catholic circles asked that it be restored. These circles also objected to the addition of an expression of hope that Jews eventually might enter the Catholic church.

MASS MARRIAGE REUNION TORONTO MINISTER'S PLAN

TORONTO (CP)—A Toronto minister who has married 3,400 couples in the last 49 years is planning a mass marriage reunion for Sunday, Nov. 15.

Rev. Irvin G. Perkins of Donlands United Church doesn't expect all 6,800 persons to show up, but the ones who do will be able to reaffirm their nuptial vows in ceremonies coinciding with the 50th anniversary of the church.

They'll be able to make a second trip down the aisle, complete with wedding music, flowers and a brand new marriage certificate.

Mr. Perkins said the idea was suggested to him by many of the couples when he met them at other weddings.

"Many of them told me they would like to go through their wedding ceremony again and I think it is a good idea," he said.

$4.5 Million Pledged To University Drive

Eight companies have made pledges totalling $4,535,000 in a drive to raise $28,000,000 for British Columbia's three universities.

Most of the pledges have been made to cover a five-year period, but the actual amount of cash received by the company running the campaign, G. A. Blakely, has not been disclosed.

Companies contributed so far are MacMillan Bloedel and Powell River, $2,000,000; Crown Zellerbach, $750,000; B.C. Forest Products, $400,000; Rayonier, $350,000; B.C. Sugar Refineries, $225,000; B.C. Hydro, $100,000; Columbia Cellulose, $360,000 and Canadian Forest Products, $350,000.

The $28,000,000 sought in the drive will be added to the $40,000,000 promised by the B.C. government for construction at the University of Victoria, the University of British Columbia and the new Simon Fraser University to be built at Burnaby.

First $4,000,000 of the $28,000,000 will go to Simon Fraser University which, like UBC, will receive 42 per cent and University of Victoria will get 16 per cent.

Victoria will receive $4,000,000 of the government's $40,000,000, with Simon Fraser and UBC sharing the rest.

Apartment Foes Get Hearing

Residents in Oak Bay who are opposed to the construction of apartment buildings on the waterfront side of Beach Drive will appear at a public hearing Monday night at Oak Bay municipal hall.

They are protesting the application of David Hummel, F. M. P. Warren and S. S. Marquardt to rezone the Merston property directly south of the Oak Bay Beach Hotel.

But officials at municipal hall also expect to see many supporters for the application. More letters have been received at the hall from people supporting the application than from those opposed to the plan.

Directly opposite the Oak Bay Beach Hotel, Gordon Lovitt, owner of the "White House" apartment block, is preparing to construct another $1 million apartment building.

The property adjacent to the golf course was zoned for apartment use five years ago. Plans call for a 12-storey building but an amendment will have to be made to the bylaw to make provision for set-back adjustments.

When the amendment is prepared another public hearing will be called.

Beaverbrook's Ashes at Rest

NEWCASTLE, N.B. (UPI)—Lord Beaverbrook's ashes today were placed to rest in the landscaped square of this quiet lumbering town on the banks of the Miramichi River.

In a stirring ceremony, Lady Beaverbrook deposited an urn containing the ashes into a 10-inch-square niche in the sandstone base of Oscar Nemon's bronze bust of the British press baron who died in London on June 9.

Indians Defend Reserve Conditions

NORTH VANCOUVER, B.C. (CP)—"We're not filthy rich but we're not disgustingly poor either," says Jim Nahanee.

Nahanee, the young, dapper secretary-manager of the 750-member Squamish Indian band, was taking issue with Jack Davis, parliamentary assistant to Prime Minister Pearson, who represents Coast-Capilano in Parliament.

Mr. Davis told the North and West Vancouver chambers of commerce recently that Indians in his constituency are living in homes without plumbing and something should be done to improve conditions.

The reserves he was discussing—the Mission and the Burrard—adjoin the two rich municipalities on the northern border of Vancouver proper.

Mr. Nahanee said rough, gravel roads and boardwalks have been replaced by paved streets and concrete sidewalks. "What's more, we're paying for all this out of our own funds," Mr. Nahanee said his band's annual income from land leases, such as the rich Park Royal Shopping Centre, is $200,000 and still rising. Some $75,000 of this is distributed in the form of $25 dividends paid three times a year to every man, woman and child. The rest goes for community improvements, housing loans and social welfare.

The Burrard band occupies a 275-acre area and operates independently of the Squamish tribe. The Burrard reserve also boasts a waterworks system and has concluded an agreement that will enable all its homes to connect to a municipal sewer system now being built through the reserve.

Chief Gary Thomas, a roofing contractor, took a dim view of the suggestion that the Indians were in dire straits and needed of a helping hand.

Radiation-Treated Wood Used In Experimental House

OTTAWA (CP)—An experimental wooden house incorporating unusual design features which could some day reduce house-building costs in Canada was formally unveiled today.

The project, fourth in a series of research houses, is testing such things as radiation-treated wood, a basement built of wooden walls and footings, plastic plumbing and a toilet that doesn't need sewer connections.

Sponsored jointly by the federal government and the National House Builders Association, the experimental house—known as Mark IV—cost $33,100 to develop. Some of its low-cost features will be introduced in general house construction if they prove successful.

Postmaster-General Nicholson, whose portfolio includes housing matters, officially opened the split-level bungalow and made special mention of the radiation-treated wood used in it.

A piece of lumber in the front door sill and plywood panels beneath some of the windows were impregnated with plastic and then exposed to gamma rays. Researchers of the federal forestry department say the resulting product is resistant to decay and abrasion and has better stability.

Mr. Nicholson said this process has "very exciting possibilities, for the process brings about a chemical change that really improved some of the qualities of the wood."

The basement, a radical departure from the usual concrete structure, is full-sized and could be insulated to make additional living space.

For sewage, the house depends on a recirculating system which purifies the waste in a system of four tanks and returns the water to be used for flushing.

For the wall finish, both inside and outside, kraft paper sheets have been employed. The joints are bound with adhesive tape and the paper surfaces painted.

Plastic piping is used extensively in the water lines and drains.

The house is located at RCAF Rockcliffe in Ottawa's east end.

Canadians Help Score Hit

LONDON (CP)—Two Canadians are part of the team that put together Maggie May, a rollicking musical set in the Liverpool dockyards.

The book by playwright Alun Owen is the oldest story in the world—the tart with the heart of gold. It is a box-office hit. What gives the musical its zip, say the critics, are the songs by Lionel Bart, the choreography by Winnipeg's Paddy Stone and masterly direction by Toronto's 34-year-old William Ted Kotcheff.

Also contributing to the all-round success are Sean

Kenny's massive and ingenious sets and the acting of leading characters Rachel Roberts, Rex Harrison's wife, and Kenneth Haigh.

"A swaggering compendium of spectacle, song and sex that triumphs over its own flaws by sheer power and drive," says The Daily Express critic.

Kotcheff, a former CBC television director who has directed several of Owen's plays on BBC television, is singled out for his "admirable precision" by The Telegram critic.

Stone, 33-year-old former dancer with the Royal Winipeg Ballet, is praised for his "electrifying dance numbers" by The Daily Mail.

The title under which the company initiated its first North American tour in Victoria—Ari-rang—is the title of a popular Korean folk song, and all material used in the show is based on their folk music, dances and customs.

Choreography and music have undergone adaptation toward Western styles, but not to the extent that essential character has disappeared.

SURPRISES

This was a show full of surprises, whether or not one had been exposed to oriental stage arts previously. Singing, for example, had no trace of the high, nasal quality of the Peking Opera.

Tenor, baritone and soprano soloists as well as chorus had rich, full voices whose timbre filled one with admiration.

Dances were the epitome of grace, performed always with a marvelous rhythmic vigor. There were no mask-like faces; everything was done with an engaging joyousness and sparkle.

But inescapably, the star of this brilliant company was lovely Stella R. Kwon, chief choreographer and dancer and drummer extraordinary.

Miss Kwon's charm was almost enough in itself, but her frenetic manipulation of five ceremonial drums within an ornate frame on wheels could have roused Genghis Khan to envy and had the Royal bric-a-brac ringing with bravos.

CRANES FAVORED

Add to this the pure folk poetry of the ballet, Disappointed Love, the clever interlude in which two sacred cranes cavorted in most bird-like movements, the many touches of unsophisticated humor.

But, without doubt, most people will talk for a long time about the brilliant beauty of the costumes, the exotic version of a maypole dance and the whirling dancers when long tapes attached to headpieces were sent flying through the air in dizzy arcs and loops through which nimble feet skipped.

SALLY ANN WILL TRY GUITARS

VANCOUVER (CP) — The brass of bands and rattle of tamborines are going to be tuned to the twang of guitars, a Salvation Army official says. Commissioner Edgar Grinstead, 67, of Toronto said in an interview here Wednesday that the army is turning to guitars to attract young people into church.

"We must use the idiom and the music of the younger generation if we are going to communicate with them," said recently-appointed territorial commander for Canada and Bermuda.

"The army is certainly not giving up its wonderful brass bands. But we have to appeal to the youngsters with the kind of music they enjoy."

Jordan Diversion Start Ordered

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—The Arab countries bordering Israel Thursday ordered a contractor to start work at once on Arab plans to divert Jordan River tributaries, to counter Israel's tapping of the river waters where they pass through the Sea of Galilee.

Israel had threatened to fight if the Arabs divert the water.

JAYCEE WEEK

They're Talking 'Fair' Already

Wholesale sales manager for Northwestern Creamery, Reg Owens is well suited to the job of selling space for Victoria Jaycees 1965 Exhibition. But there is more to the job of being exhibition chairman than just that, as he explains in the fifth and last article on the local chamber. Reg is married with four children. His wife is president of the Jaycee-ettes.

By REG OWENS

The 1965 Victoria Exhibition is well into the planning stage. Next year, May 17 to 22, the people of Victoria will again have the opportunity to enjoy the biggest fair on Vancouver Island.

No sooner is one fair finished than a new fair director is elected to form next year's exhibition committee to organize and plan for this week of entertainment which thrills over 100,000 Victorians.

Who are these people who go to all this work? What do they get out of putting on Victoria's most popular event of the year?

Firstly these young men are members who joined this club to obtain training so they can become better businessmen and citizens in their community.

Not only do they gain valuable experience by putting on the fair, but it is Jaycee's major fund-raising project and gives the organization money necessary to operate its many community projects.

There are approximately 14 committee chairmen including wives, the Jaycee-ettes, who help develop the fair to its final stages.

This includes putting up barns, hotdog booths, thousands of feet of fencing and building display stalls. The experience a man gains by taking on a chairmanship or working on a committee is tremendous.

For example: Floor space—it is this committee's job to lay out the many exhibitors' booths in the Arena and curling rink and secure exhibitions which will be of interest to our community, keeping variation and entertainment in mind.

Queen chairman—This committee puts on a contest for our local girls from 18-25 (single) to compete for the title of Miss Victoria who is crowned on May 24.

Entertainment—Twice a day we have to present on stage a show best suited to young and old.

Midway chairman attends to rides for kiddies and adults. Agriculture chairman—This is a big job and requires six sub-chairmen. This is the largest spring showing of animals in western Canada, including a 4-H display.

Other chairmen handle advertising, programs, hotdogs, tickets, security, workroom, finance.

So for work Jaycees do they gain much in training and experience; working with fellows their own age, getting ideas from men of all walks of life, pooling their ideas to make Victoria's 1965 fair bigger and better.

AT THE MOVIES

With NORMAN CRIBBENS TO BED—OR NOT TO BED Light Italian Comedy Fox Theatre

An Italian fur buyer (Alberto Sordi), has visions of being overwhelmed by shapey Nordic beauties when he takes a business trip to Stockholm.

Away from the small town where he lives a conventional life with his family, he looks forward to one glorious spree—a smoky-eyed Latin let loose in a world of beautiful Swedish blondes.

It doesn't work out that way at all. The girls are ready enough with their smiles but, beyond the flirtation stage, they seem rather hard to get at. Sordi learns that Swedish women are not nearly so free with their affections as he has been led to believe.

Alberto Sordi is an accomplished comedian and his portrait of an amorous Italian abroad is alive and sparkling. A series of frustrations follow. The winsome girl who accepts an invitation to visit his hotel room for a drink only wants to chat a while, then vanishes like a puff of smoke.

After he settles in bed, a party of candle-bearing girls enter the room with food and drink. This looks promising, but it transpires they are merely following a seasonal custom. They disappear as quickly as they came, leaving the Italian more frustrated than ever.

Later an attractive woman invites him to her home where he discovers she has a husband. He is invited to stay overnight—but only in the guest room.

Another girl takes him for a ride on a frozen lake where he learns, not love, but the hair-raising local pastime of walking on ice in cars!

The scenic beauties of Sweden are ably portrayed and the story, based on a novel by Rodolfo Sonego, is smartly paced and directed by Gian Luigi Polidoro.

Uvic Says Thank You For Gift Of Books From Germany

Dr. Kurt Oppler, German ambassador to Canada, paid a fleeting visit to the University of Victoria Thursday afternoon and was formally thanked for his government's gift of valuable books to the new McPherson Library.

Dr. and Mrs. Oppler were received in the spacious library on the Gordon Head campus by Dr. J. Beattie MacLean, head of the university's German language department, and D. W. Halliwell, chief librarian.

A selection of the books presented to the university was displayed in the library's art gallery, which is soon to be hung with paintings by British Columbia artists.

Dr. MacLean said the university had received about $1,000 worth of books from the German government. They included about 100 books on German art, a number of reference works and some 200 copies of an anthology of German literature.

"These are all very valuable additions to our library," he told Dr. Oppler.

Dr. MacLean also thanked the ambassador for his government's hospitality to nine Uvic students who were invited to spend the summer studying in Germany.

Dr. Oppler said he hoped it would be possible to extend facilities for Uvic students to visit Germany.

After greeting members of the faculty, including Dr. Harry Hickman, the ambassador hurried to the Legislative Buildings where he was received by Health Minister Eric Martin in the absence of Premier Bennett, now in Europe.

Dr. and Mrs. Oppler then returned to Vancouver.

Earlier they were entertained to lunch at the Union Club by Dr. Malcolm G. Taylor, president of the university.

In an interview, Dr. Oppler said West Germany's trade with Canada had increased by about 20 per cent over the past year. "We hope this trend will continue," he said.

HOPE TO RETURN

The ambassador and his wife spent only three hours in Victoria but said they hope to return later.

Dr. Oppler has been ambassador to Canada in Ottawa since last December. He was formerly ambassador in Oslo and Brussels.

Born in Breslau, Germany, he practised law in Gleiwitz and Berlin until 1939 when he had to leave Nazi Germany for political reasons and went to live in Holland.

After the war, he joined the Hessian ministry of justice, and from 1948 to 1952 was head of the personnel division of the Anglo-American bizonal administration of Germany.

LOCAL 'MUMS ARRIVE SAFELY AFTER TEST FLIGHT OVERSEAS

Two dozen Victoria-grown chrysanthemums arrived safely in London, England, for the National Chrysanthemum Show last week, but they didn't win any honors.

They were not entered in the competitions this year. Next year may be different, as members of the Victoria Horticultural Society and Victoria Chrysanthemum Society contemplate just what their chances are in shipping some of their best blooms by air.

When they have to travel such a distance members are restricted to sending the more hardier types, said Mrs. A. R. McMillan.

OVER $2 MILLION SO FAR

26 Per Cent Jump In B.C. Building

Construction activity in B.C. the first seven months of 1964 shows a 26 per cent boom over the same period a year ago.

Figures are $213,434,000 compared with $169,474,000, indicating the value of building permits issued since Jan. 1.

Minister of Industrial Development Ralph Loffmark said today the first half of 1964 showed gains in almost every sector of business activity, and statistics for June and July confirm earlier predictions of rapid growth in B.C. this year.

Housing starts alone during July rose 53 per cent over July 1963 while completions dropped 9 per cent, an indication that skilled tradesmen for finishing work are short.

PRINCE GEORGE MILL

Largest permit issued out of the total $39,900,000 in July was for an $11,037,000 pulp mill at Prince George.

In the primary industries, volume of timber scaled rose 8 per cent, a measure of increased logging activity; value of fish landed in July was more than $16 million; natural gas output went up 6.3 per cent and from ore shipments rose 7.8 per cent over the quantity for the first half of 1963; coal output to the end of July was up 25 per cent over Jan.-July, 1963.

Substantial Raise Sought By Teachers

Greater Victoria Teachers' Association Wednesday night agreed to seek a "substantial" increase in their 1964-65 salary agreement with School District 61.

Details of the bid will be ironed out prior to the first meeting of teacher negotiators with school board representatives, probably after B.C. School Trustees' Association 60th anniversary convention, in Vancouver Oct. 4-7.

Last week teachers' negotiating chairman Norman Preston predicted GVTA would go for a substantial hike and today he confirmed teachers would open negotiations on that basis.

Before the first negotiating session GVTA has other contractual points to decide, besides salary items, Mr. Preston said.

Basic minimum teacher salary in District 61 today is $3,000, rising to $9,060 for top qualified teachers.

Principals are on a scale rising to $13,841, including allowances, for the highest-paid secondary principal in the district.

Driver of This Car Escaped Alive . . .

... But Two Died In This Vehicle.

Mother Fights for Life After Two Die In Crash

By TERRY IZZARD

Doctors fought today to save the life of a Sidney woman whose son and mother died in a two-car collision on Pat Bay Highway Thursday night.

At press time Mrs. Frances Worrall, of 2120 James White Boulevard, was in critical condition.

Her 4½-year-old son Jimmy died in the accident. Also dead is the boy's grandmother, Mrs. Frances Daniels, 72, of 1317 Pandora, Victoria.

All three were trapped in their late-model compact car which was travelling toward Sidney when a southbound car driven by horse trainer Barry McGillivray was in collision with them.

McGillivray, well known on western tracks, was in fairly good condition today.

Both victims suffered multiple injuries.

SPUN 60 FEET
The collision appeared to have taken place in the north-bound lane about half a mile north of Elk Lake, just south of a highway fruit market called "Berryland."

Mr. McGillivray's car spun 60 feet through the air after colliding with the front right of the car driven by Mrs. Worrall.

It eventually came to rest in a nearby garden.

Glass and mechanical parts were scattered over a wide area as the Worralls' car was pushed back over 40 feet.

'HELP ME'

Firemen soothed Mrs. Worrall, who was crying, "Help me, please help me," as they pried open doors with crow bars.

The dashboard was pushed back to the front seat and all three occupants were trapped beneath it.

First to be pulled out of the wreckage was Mrs. Daniels.

After dragging out the car seats police and firemen managed to get to Mrs. Worrall, who was also pined by the twisted steering wheel.

It was only then that little Jimmy was found lying beneath the dashboard.

Ambulances rushed all three and Mr. McGillivray, who was found sprawled across the front seat of his badly battered older model car, to hospital.

But it was too late to save the boy.

Police Fear Assassin Waiting for De Gaulle

GUAYAQUIL (Reuters) — Police anxious for the security of visiting French President Charles de Gaulle today were hunting for a fugitive French terrorist leader who may have come to Ecuador to try to kill him.

He is Pierre Chateau-Jobert, a former colonel in the French airborne, and a leading figure in the Secret Army Organization, which tried and failed to keep Algeria French.

Police feared he may have arrived in Quito, the Ecuadorian capital, to stage an attempt on de Gaulle's life.

De Gaulle, who arrived in Quito Thursday on the third stage of his 10-nation tour of South America, planned a visit to Guayaquil today before flying to Peru.

All them cars t' use—an' th' workers WALK out.

Th' municipalities will go along with joint services boards, but th' joints are creakin' a bit.

U.S. Plants Hit By UAW Walkout

DETROIT (AP)—A U.S.-wide strike against General Motors Corporation flared today when the United Auto Workers and the company failed to agree on a new contract by a union-imposed 11 a.m., EDT, deadline.

Negotiations were broken off and no further sessions were scheduled.

The union previously negotiated three-year pacts at Chrysler Corporation and Ford Motor Company, final agreement coming only 55 minutes ahead of deadlines at each.

The union took General Motors out of 1965 model production but announced its plants which build and sell parts to Chrysler and Ford would not be struck.

Disclosure the strike was official didn't come until after workers already had started walking out at Cleveland, Ohio; Framingham, Mass., and elsewhere.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther announced at 11:30 a.m. that it was with "a great sense of sadness and disappointment" that he announced failure to reach agreement with General Motors.

He was accompanied to a televised press conference by Leonard Woodcock, UAW vice-president and chief of its GM department.

The UAW estimated its strike of GM would make idle 260,000 of its 354,000 production workers.

'MORE THAN MONEY'

Reuther said he thought the GM economic offer was satisfactory, but said workers are interested in more than just money alone. He said workers "are entitled to decency and dignity at the place where they work and that's the reason for this strike."

He characterized GM as a "dehumanized production machine that has lost track of the human equation on the production line."

Louis G. Seaton, GM vice-president in charge of personnel, said the strike "is completely unnecessary and unjustified."

"The union's reasoning behind its last minute decision to break off negotiations and resort to the strike weapon is all the more difficult to understand because substantial progress toward resolution of our differences had been made at the bargaining table," Seaton continued.

SEES RESTRICTION

"General Motors has made every effort to effect a settlement of non-economic issues, having in mind the interests of our employees. However, the union had made demands beyond this which, if granted, would restrict management in its responsibility to operate the business efficiently in the interests of all concerned."

"We are not prepared to accept."

CALIF. FIRE

Mountain Towns In Danger

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI)—The giant and devastating Santa Barbara mountain fire today invaded adjacent Ventura County, its flames racing toward the mountain communities of Matilija and Ojai.

The fire, which already has blackened more than 80,000 acres and killed one fireman, pushed on its eastern front to within six miles of the 70 homes located at Matilija and to within 12 miles of the Ojai valley with a population estimated at 16,000.

The flames were advancing at one mile an hour, considered exceptionally fast.

A U.S. forest service official called the breakout "a very serious situation."

DAMAGE HIGH

The man-caused fire also has caused property damage estimated at $3.5 million and injured 40 persons, 29 of them in one flareup.

The fire, which killed one fireman and injured 40 other persons, already has destroyed or damaged more than 100 homes and blackened an estimated 74,240 acres. Twenty-nine were injured in one flareup.

ART TREASURES SAFE

Among the luxurious homes destroyed was that of Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee. His famous oriental art collection valued at $10 to $20 million, was not in the mansion.

Fire officials said the increased acreage burned was in uninhabited dry brushland at the eastern and northeastern rims of the 10-mile fire front.

The flames were burning in the hills overlooking the communities of Summerland and Carpinteria but officials said neither was in any immediate danger.

Morning temperatures were in the cool range in contrast with the past few days when readings were near 100 degrees.

NOW THE CAMPAIGN

64-Year Career Finally Ends For Churchill

LONDON (CP)—Queen Elizabeth today signed a royal proclamation dissolving Parliament in preparation for the Oct. 15 British general election.

While it officially launched the political campaign, the proclamation ended the longest peacetime Parliament in 38 years and also the political career of Sir Winston Churchill, whose retirement took effect with dissolution.

The Queen signed the proclamation at a meeting of her Privy Council, composed mainly of prominent members of all parties. The council is appointed by the Queen herself to advise her on constitutional issues.

She flew here from Balmoral, Scotland, where she had been on holidays, to attend the council meeting and sign the documents dissolving Parliament.

It had been the first Parliament to run its full term in time of peace since the term was reduced to five years from seven in 1911.

NECK AND NECK

The latest opinion polls, meanwhile, showed the Conservatives running neck and neck with their chief opposition, Harold Wilson's Labor party.

$3,400 FINES LEVIED FOR OBSCENE BOOKS

VANCOUVER (CP)—Magistrate Gordon Scott today imposed fines totalling $3,400 on a bookstore company, its owner and two employees on charges of possession of obscene material.

The magistrate had found them guilty during the last week after a year-long trial.

He fined Fraser Book Bin $250 on each of six charges. Owner Ted Fraser was fined $250 or one month on each of six charges.

Manager Eiram Harris and employee Don Poirier were fined $100 or 10 days on each of two counts.

UBCM Launches Cleanup Drive

By JOHN MIKA
Times Staff Reporter
(See Pages 3, 21)

BURNABY—Union of B.C. Municipalities today indicated it is becoming concerned with the way British Columbians are fouling their own nest.

A variety of anti-dirt resolutions were passed by delegates here in an effort to promote a cleaner environment.

A Prince Rupert motion led the campaign, calling for a province-wide crack-down by police on highway litterbugs and also urging the provincial highways department to clean up road debris regularly.

A Port Alberni resolution advocating tough provincial controls over air pollution won speedy approval.

SET UP BUREAU

It asked the province to set up an inspection and research bureau, establish safe standards with penalties for violations, and require public hearings before construction of any industrial plants, with a pollution potential, is permitted.

Another resolution sought "early and positive remedial action" by the provincial government in prohibiting establishment of junkyards and other objectionable commercial activities along highways.

However, the delegates decided a Parksville request, that the province pay for all cleaning of public beaches, was going too far and this was defeated.

In other resolutions, the convention approved:

A request that the senior governments finance and operate hospitals for the chronically ill; extension of BCHS coverage to persons in nursing homes requiring prolonged care; initiation of compulsory vehicle testing annually through the province.

Arthur Mayse

We have a new little pet in our jumble of camp gear. It's called a catalytic heater, and if you haven't already discovered the virtues of these compact chill-chasers, you could do worse than investigate them.

Our heater is a neat cylinder about 10 inches high, with a domed, perforated top and a carrying handle.

Outdoors it wouldn't warm a grasshopper, but set it in a tent and it goes to work with safe, quiet efficiency.

The base holds a quart of white gasoline—you can buy special fuel, but it's not essential—and a filling is good for 24 hours.

Only nuisance thing about it is that the burner head must be primed with a sprinkle of wood alcohol before you touch it off. But once the blue alcohol flame has subsided and the top's on, you can forget about it.

I am not precisely a model of grace, especially at close quarters, and in the few weeks we've used our heater it has been kicked, tipped over, and (briefly) sat upon. No fumes, no flame. Except for that steady and comforting trickle of warmth, the rig advertises its presence only by a subdued glow through the holes in the removable casing.

★ ★ ★ We'd have bought one of these heaters much earlier, if several campers who claimed to have tested them hadn't talked them down.

"Sure," said one of these as we scrambled wood for a beach fire one November-like August evening, "they're safe enough. But they wouldn't take the chill out of a pup-tent."

A California couple seconded this pessimistic report.

"What you need is a heater like ours," they insisted, and displayed an impressive unit hooked to a pair of butane cylinders.

We admired this portable fireplace politely, but backed away. What we wanted, and all we wanted, was a dingus to chase the damp from our tent. That one would barbecue a salmon.

Discouraged, we continued to cheat—the unseasonal weather with a quick dive into our sleeping bags. Once or twice, guiltily, we fetched a gas lantern into the tent for a warmup.

Then along came a family who set up camp with practiced smoothness, rigged a plastic roof and windbreak for their cooking area, and unloaded with their other equipment a heater precisely like the little $15 one we'd first inspected at Campbell River.

Later at the boat landing, we asked the newcomers how they liked their midget heating plant.

"Fine," was the answer. "It's no furnace, but it makes the difference."

And so, indeed, it did, as we leaped next night when we kindled our new green heater and installed it in the tent. It didn't seem to be doing much of a job, and we were disappointed with it for a while. But in a very few minutes, the evening darkness of a canvas habitation vanished, and, come morning, getting up was darn near a pleasure.

Our heater is the smaller of two sizes, and for a cabin-type tent, I think the larger one might prove a better investment. Price difference is about $10.

So much for that useful addition to a camp outfit we've been cautious about lumbering up with gimmicks. I foresee plenty of non-camping trips on which it will be a worthy companion, among them our frostbite excursions after what Puget Sound fishermen call blackmouths, and we up here have given the intriguing title of winter spring salmon.

One replacement was forced on us: the two-burner camp gas stove that served us these many years decided its time to retire had come.

The new stove is a lordly three-burner model, and we find that extra round of space and cooking heat very nice to have.

It, too, will come in handy some day this winter when the big winds blow, the power goes out, and company's coming for dinner.

LARRY DEVLIN... 'it's public disgrace'

Uvic Speakers Rip Into Governments For Penny-Pinching

By JIM BIGSBY
Times Uvic Correspondent

A panel of key University of Victoria personalities Thursday night hit repeatedly at "government parsimony."

They indicated that insufficient funds may be leading to higher tuition fees, higher entrance standards, and a slowed-down building program.

"We may very well be forced to raise entrance requirements to 60, 70 or 80 per cent, simply because we are not getting enough money from government to supply classroom space, library space and laboratories," warned Prof. Roger Bishop during a frothy orientation seminar at the Student Union Building.

"I'll fight this to the death," he said.

'Live' Show By Artillery On Weekend

One hundred militia gunners will compete in a live shoot this weekend at Albert Head for the Harris trophy awarded annually to the best gun detachment.

Maj. T. G. Dalzell, CD, commanding officer of the 5th (B.C.) Independent Medium Battery, RCA, reported 30 members of the cadet corps also will take part in the exercise.

A convoy of 10 vehicles will leave the Bay Street Armoury at 9 a.m. Saturday.

Maj. Dalzell said the firing exercise will include competition for the Harris trophy presented in honor of Col. Ches Harris, former commanding officer of the 5th.

The trophy is awarded to the gun detachment having best marks in general efficiency, fire drill and maintenance of equipment.

The firing of the 105-mm. Howitzers will take place Sunday morning with Capt. Terry O'Brian and Capt. Chris Christiansen as observers from area headquarters in Vancouver.

Capt. A. E. Sherwin, the battery's training officer, will be in charge of the shoot.

Only 4 New Fires, One of Quietest Seasons for B.C.

Only four new forest fires were reported in B.C. this week.

The provincial forest service described this year's fire season as "one of B.C.'s quietest."

At last report, 14 fires were still burning. Damp, cool conditions were expected to eliminate any serious fire hazard.

From May 1, there have been 1,102 fires costing $124,100 to fight. In the same period last year, there were 2,289 fires costing $398,200.

-Innocent When You Arrive, You Won't Be When You Leave

In the course of pursuing a story on the handling of foster children, Miss Marge Gilroy found herself disturbed by reports of how wayward girls are handled at the Willingdon School for girls in Burnaby.

Miss Gilroy, who is a registered nurse turned newspaper woman, pursued the matter in talks with inmates, a visit to the school and discussions with welfare and adoption officials. In five articles she reports what she has found. The first follows:

By MARGE GILROY

When a teen-aged girl is sentenced in juvenile court to an undetermined period in Willingdon School for Girls she goes there with a chip on her shoulder.

For the next two weeks, or maybe two months, she will find herself in a small single room in the admission wing of the Burnaby institution where she will meet supervisors, social workers and other staff members.

There are three social workers, two academic school teachers, one physical education instructor, one recreation director, a hairdressing and sewing instructor, a nurse and several cottage supervisors.

There is a total staff of 50, of which seven are men.

There is a consultant psychiatrist and the nearby mental health centre is used in cases of emergency.

During the first two weeks a pre-sentence report and a history are completed. From then on the staff meet twice a week to discuss the progress of each girl in the school.

'Why Should We?'

But as one girl said: "We don't tell them anything. They know all about us anyway. Why should we talk?"

When the staff has determined a program for the girl she is placed in one of the cottages equipped to handle as many as 20 girls.

For the first while some of the girls are better off just doing housework, said director Miss W. M. Urquhart. They may not even be encouraged to take part in any training program for the first few weeks.

"Many of the girls are hostile towards their social worker before ever coming here," she said.

Few Prostitutes

The type of girl ranges from a dope-addict to one who has run away from home. There are a few prostitutes, but many more are just promiscuous, said Miss Urquhart.

Supervisor M. R. Fisher commented on the change in the type of girl admitted to such schools in recent years. Previously they were hardened criminals, now they are picked up at an earlier age.

But one teen-ager who claims to have been innocent about homosexuality, prostitution and dope addiction before going to the school, described all the girls as "depraved."

"If you are innocent when you come in here you won't be when you leave," she said.

"But if you're not, it won't do anything to change you," she added.

They Don't Care

One ex-inmate of the school described the girls as not having any respect for the so-called decent people.

"They don't really think there is any such thing as justice and when they get AWOL they don't really care if they get caught," she said.

Inflation Protection Aim of Group

Protection against inflation for pensioners and affiliation with organized labor will be discussed at the annual meeting next month of the B.C. Employees' Association.

A resolution from the Nanaimo branch of the 8,000-member group said there is a steady loss of purchasing power because of inflation.

It asked the association to request the provincial government to make provision for a fund to be set up to provide protection against inflation for those already receiving pensions.

A resolution from the executive asks that deductions be increased to 1/2 of one per cent from a 1/4 matched by the government, to increase pensions as employees wages rise.

A resolution from Woodlands School for the Retarded in New Westminster asks for affiliation with the B.C. Federation of Labor.

The resolution said rejection of a ballot on this question also contained a petition for return of checkoff, "one contradicting the other."

The annual meeting will be held Oct. 23 in Vancouver.

Burglar Tools Send Two Men To Penitentiary

Two men found in possession of burglary tools were sent to the penitentiary this morning for two years by Magistrate William Ostler.

Barry Jackson, 480 Garbally, and Wilfred Humphreys, Lincoln Hotel, were arrested early one morning recently by police who found they had a pair of gloves and a bent screwdriver in their possession.

They were unable to give a satisfactory explanation to the magistrate today of how they came into possession. Both have long criminal records, court was told.

Miss Urquhart viewed some of the girls who run away as the most normal.

They are the girls who resent the barrier that is preventing them from doing what they want to do. Some of these girls do alright on the outside. Most are caught and returned.

"We always have a break-out when we are over-crowded," said Miss Urquhart.

In security the girl is locked in a single cell with a bare mattress on the floor and an open toilet and sink in one corner.

In the door there is semi-circular opening through which their meals are passed.

The bottom half of the window is bricked up, and the walls bear the gouges of angry girls. There is no smoking and no visiting.

Status Symbol

Going AWOL is almost like a status symbol at the school.

Mr. Fisher described the attitude of the girls as such that if they didn't run away they were telling the others that they liked it there. No one would dare make such an admission.

To be "in" many feel they must make at least one escape.

The gate is never locked, except at night, but the escapes are usually made over the fence.

Through pictures of teen-age idols, like the Beatles, inmates at the Willingdon School for Girls keep in touch with the outside world.

Winds Buffet All Coastline, But Clear Fog

Six Emergencies Reported at Sea

A windstorm raced down the B.C. coast overnight causing considerable damage but sweeping Victoria International Airport and the Island coastline clear of lingering fog.

A number of small boats suffered.

RCAF search and rescue headquarters reported six marine emergencies along the coastline.

A 16-foot sailboat with two men aboard was reported missing off Saanich Peninsula, but found later in a sheltered cove.

BOAT CAPSIZES

Two unidentified men were rescued by an American tug after their boat capsized off Qualicum Beach. The tug took them to Nanaimo.

An unidentified sports fisherman disappeared in a 14-foot boat as winds gusted to 50 miles an hour off Gabriola Island—a few miles from Nanaimo.

SUN AHEAD

Four other men were rescued from small craft at the height of the storm.

Winds averaging 40 miles an hour in the Victoria area cleared the way for bright sunshine this morning. More sunny weather is expected, with a few fog patches in low-lying areas Saturday morning.

Temperatures are expected to drop to a low of 45 degrees tonight and climb to a high of 65 Saturday.

General weather picture for the weekend is sunny.

Beach Fire Leads To Sooke Arrest

By DESMOND BILL

A 38-year-old man suspected of being a rapist fell into a police trap this morning and was arrested.

The man had been hunted by police since last Saturday night when a 15-year-old girl was sexually assaulted in East Sooke.

RCMP sealed off the Sooke peninsula and then scoured through it using tracking dogs. On Thursday police flew across the thick bush in a helicopter.

This morning the fugitive lit a fire on the beach near Beechey Head. Police said he hoped to be picked up by a passing fishing boat and taken to Victoria.

But instead he was spotted by Capt. Fred Vosper of the Gulf Ranger tug owned by Rivtow Marine Ltd. of Victoria. The skipper brought his boat as close to shore as he dared but he couldn't land because his vessel didn't have a skiff.

Capt. Vosper headed as fast as possible to Sooke where he picked up an RCMP officer and returned to the beach.

The officer hid below deck in the tug's cabin and a crew member, Bob Sheret, went ashore in a light skiff that had been taken aboard in Sooke.

The suspect, bearded and hungry, climbed in the skiff with Sheret and the two went aboard the tug. As soon as the man got on the deck he was arrested by the officer who came out of the cabin.

Police said the man was then brought to Sooke aboard the tug. He was to appear in court this afternoon to face a charge of rape.

Police said the assault took place outside a home in East Sooke where the girl had gone with her parents and other relatives in response to an advertisement.

The suspect is reported to have no fixed address but is believed to have lived in East Sooke for about 10 days prior to the offence.

Sooke RCMP were in charge of the case. Hours after the assault they sealed off the only main road that leads into the East Sooke peninsula. They were confident all week that the suspect was bottled up on the peninsula.

The only way out, apart from the road, was through thick bush that would be almost impassable in darkness or by sea.

UBCM Invited To City

Victoria delegates Thursday decided to invite the Union of B.C. Municipalities to hold next year's convention in Victoria Centennial Square.

With a brand-new civic precinct to offer including a city hall, civic theatre where the convention sessions could be held, parking garage, restaurant and shopping arcade scheduled to be fully completed by next fall—the Victoria invitation immediately became front runner for the site of the 1965 meeting.

If accepted later today when the current convention winds up, the invitation likely would bring about 1,000 delegates, officials and wives to Victoria next year.

The Victoria invitation has another advantage—Mayor R. B. Wilson was elected Thursday as the UBCM's first vice-president for the coming year which puts him in line for election to the presidency next September.

Ask The Times

Q. Can you tell me the purpose of the yellow squares on North Saanich roads? P.T.

A. The yellow marks, 12 to 18 inches square, are photo identification marks, used in conjunction with air surveys performed by the provincial department of lands. Prior to an air survey, these points are painted on a suitable surface for air identification and the distance between them is measured exactly. The known distance enables map makers to establish an exact ground scale for their maps based on air photos of the area.

Driver of This Car Escaped Alive . . .

... But Two In This Vehicle Died

Mother Fights for Life
After Two Die In Crash

By TERRY IZZARD

Doctors fought today to save the life of a Sidney woman whose son and mother died in a two-car collision on Pat Bay Highway Thursday night. At press time Mrs. Frances Worrall, of 2120 James White Boulevard, was in critical condition. Her 4½-year-old son Jimmy died in the accident.

Also dead is the boy's grandmother, Mrs. Frances Daniels, 72, of 1317 Pandora, Victoria.

All three were trapped in their late-model compact car which was travelling toward Sidney when a southbound car driven by horse trainer Barry McGillivray was in collision with them.

McGillivray, well known on western tracks, was in fairly good condition today. Both victims suffered multiple injuries.

The collision appeared to have taken place in the north-bound lane about half a mile north of Elk Lake, just south of a highway fruit market called "Berryland."

Mr. McGillivray's car spun 60 feet through the air after colliding with the front right of the car driven by Mrs. Worrall.

It eventually came to rest in a nearby garden. Glass and mechanical parts were scattered over a wide area as the Worralls' car was pushed back over 40 feet.

'HELP ME'

Firemen soothed Mrs. Worrall, who was crying. "Help me, please help me," as they pried open doors with crow bars.

The dashboard was pushed back to the front seat and all three occupants were trapped beneath it.

First to be pulled out of the wreckage was Mrs. Daniels.

After dragging out the car seats police and firemen managed to get to Mrs. Worrall, who was also pinned by the twisted steering wheel.

It was only then that little Jimmy was found lying beneath the dashboard.

Ambulances rushed all three and Mr. McGillivray, who was found sprawled across the front seat of his badly battered older model car, to hospital.

But it was too late to save the boy. His grandmother died two hours later.

In U.S. Plants

DETROIT (AP)—A U.S.-wide strike against General Motors Corporation flared today when the United Auto Workers and the company failed to agree on a new contract by a union-imposed 11 a.m., EDT, deadline.

Negotiations were broken off and no further sessions were scheduled.

The union previously negotiated three-year pacts at Chrysler Corporation and Ford Motor Company, final agreement coming only 55 minutes ahead of deadlines at each.

The union took General Motors out of 1965 model production but announced its plants which build and sell parts to Chrysler and Ford would not be struck.

Disclosure the strike was official didn't come until after workers already had started walking out at Cleveland, Ohio; Framingham, Mass., and elsewhere.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther announced at 11:30 a.m. that it was with "a great sense of sadness and disappointment" that he announced failure to reach agreement with General Motors.

He was accompanied to a televised press conference by Leonard Woodcock, UAW vice-president and chief of its GM department.

The UAW estimated its strike of GM would make idle 260,000 of its 354,000 production workers.

'MORE THAN MONEY'

Reuther said he thought the GM economic offer was satisfactory, but said workers are interested in more than just money alone. He said workers "are entitled to decency and dignity at the place where they work and that's the reason for this strike."

He characterized GM as a "dehumanized production machine that has lost track of the human equation on the production line."

Louis G. Seaton, GM vice-president in charge of personnel, said the strike "is completely unnecessary and unjustified."

"The union's reasoning behind its last minute decision to break off negotiations and resort to the strike weapon is all the more difficult to understand because substantial progress toward resolution of our differences had been made at the bargaining table," Seaton continued.

SEES RESTRICTION

"General Motors has made every effort to effect a settlement of non-economic issues, having in mind the interests of our employees. However, the union had made demands beyond this which, if granted, would restrict management in its responsibility to operate the business efficiently in the interests of all concerned."

"We are not prepared to accept."

Next Week
In Canada

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP)—About 12,000 hourly rated workers at General Motors of Canada Limited plant here will be laid off Monday if the General Motors strike in the United States is not settled by then, a company spokesman said today.

"We could operate today and probably Monday and then we would be finished. But we are hoping for a quick settlement there before we are stopped here," he said.

The UAW is also negotiating new master and local agreements with General Motors of Canada. Local 22's contract expires Oct. 31.

Any decision to call a strike vote here would be up to the master agreement negotiating committee, but not until consultation procedures have begun, a union official said today.

CALGARY (CP)—The city got a taste of winter today as wet snow carried by 40-mile-an-hour winds slowed early-morning traffic. The short storm caused some brief electrical power interruptions which put radio stations off the air.

BROOKS, Alta. (CP)—One man was killed and three suffered injuries today when they were trapped in a work hut after high winds toppled a 103-foot high oil drilling derrick. Names of the men were withheld. They were trapped in the hut by drilling pipe which fell from the derrick.

BURNABY—Union of B.C. Municipalities today indicated it is becoming concerned with the way British Columbians are fouling their own nest.

A variety of anti-dirt resolutions were passed by delegates here in an effort to promote a cleaner environment.

A Prince Rupert motion led the campaign, calling for a province-wide crack-down by police on highway litterbugs and also urging the provincial highways department to clean up road debris regularly.

A Port Alberni resolution advocating tough provincial controls over air pollution won speedy approval.

SET UP BUREAU

It asked the province to set up an inspection and research bureau, establish safe standards with penalties for violations, and require public hearings before construction of any industrial plants, with a pollution potential, is permitted.

Another resolution sought "early and positive remedial action" by the provincial government in prohibiting establishment of junkyards and other objectionable commercial activities along highways.

However, the delegates decided a Parksville request, that the province pay for all cleaning of public beaches, was going too far and this was defeated.

In other resolutions, the convention approved: A request that the senior governments finance and operate hospitals for the chronically ill; extension of BCHS coverage to persons in nursing homes requiring prolonged care; initiation of compulsory vehicle testing annually through the province.

Assassin Stalking De Gaulle?

GUAYAQUIL (Reuters)—

Police anxious for the security of visiting French President Charles de Gaulle today were hunting for a fugitive French terrorist leader who may have come to Ecuador to try to kill him.

He is Pierre Chateau-Jobert, a former colonel in the French Airborne, and a leading figure in the Secret Army Organization, which tried and failed to keep Algeria French.

Police feared he may have arrived in Quito, the Ecuadorian capital, to stage an attempt on de Gaulle's life.

De Gaulle, who arrived in Quito Thursday on the third stage of his 10-nation tour of South America, planned a visit to Guayaquil today before flying to Peru.

Keep Out of Business Governments Advised

HARRISON HOT SPRINGS (CP)—A New York trade executive warned government Thursday to stay out of private business.

R. M. Norris, president of the National Foreign Trade Council of New York, said competition between the two is dangerous.

He praised mutual co-operation between the two but said

"any benefits of such co-operation are lost when government moved over the danger line and into direct competition with private business."

"The major dynamic and creative forces in our countries' economic development," he told the Pacific Coast Association of Port Authorities meeting here, "are and will continue to come from private enterprise."

cede to such unsound demands just to give the union what it has publicly said it would insist upon getting from General Motors—something more.

"General Motors stands ready to continue negotiations at any time and to work hard for a final settlement of the unresolved issues."

Reuther won what he termed "a cake" at Chrysler and said "frothing" was added at Ford. He expected to make it "a la mode" at GM.

It was the non-economic issues that brought about the strike. The company had offered to meet the packages the UAW gained at Chrysler and Ford which Reuther estimated at 54 cents an hour over the three-year contracts.

Unresolved issues at the start of a 24-hour marathon bargaining session included grievance procedures, union representation in the plants, production standards, disciplining of workers and working conditions.

The strike deadline came less than a day after General Motors put its 1965 line of cars on display in dealer showrooms.

The magistrate had found them guilty during the last week after a year-long trial.

He fined Fraser Book Bin $250 on each of six charges. Owner Ted Fraser was fined $250 or one month on each of six charges.

Manager Eiram Harris and employee Don Poirier were fined $100 or 10 days on each of two counts.

Kidnappers Set Children Free

BORDEAUX (CP)—Three children who have been the object of a country-wide search since they were kidnapped last Monday were found today happily playing beside a road near this southwestern French city, police said.

The spot where the children were found this morning is about 130 miles from Marnay, where they were snatched while walking home from school unaccompanied for the first time in their lives.

Police said the children told them a young man and woman had let them out of a car.

The three—Joel, Biet, 5; Patrick Guillon, 5, and his sister, Christine, 6—were pronounced in excellent health. They had not been maltreated.

There was no indication whether a 1,050,000-franc ($210,000) ransom had been paid.

THREATEN LIVES

A note Thursday, presumably from the kidnappers, threatened the lives of the children unless merchants in the city of Poitiers pooled resources and paid it. Poitiers is the nearest city to the village of Marnay where the children live.

The three youngsters were found by a woman near the village of Grave d'Ambares on a main road six miles outside Bordeaux. She took them to a police station.

Police said the children told them they had not been mistreated and had "slept in beds." They also said they had been taken on several brief automobile trips.

The children were in the hands of their abductors about 85 hours.

Neither the Biets nor the Guillons have money and police were at first puzzled by the motive for the kidnapping. Then the kidnappers demanded payment by proxy on a threat of death to the children.

Interior Minister Roger Frey mobilized more than 100,000 police to track down the kidnappers.

fiasco scandal, a succession of spy cases and the struggle within the party to succeed ailing Harold Macmillan as prime minister last year.

Although the royal proclamation marked the official start of the campaign, most members of the House of Commons and their opponents had already started the hunt for votes. Among the few not on the hustings, of course, was the most famous member of the last House.

'CHILD OF COMMONS'

Churchill, 90 next month, is not seeking re-election for the first time since 1900. He has been a member ever since then except from 1922 to 1924, a record that allowed him to boast: "I am a child of the House of Commons."

Bowed and feeble, he made his last visit to the House in July. Although assiduous in attendance to the end, he had not made a formal speech in Commons since retiring from the premiership in April, 1955.

Macmillan, a member of Parliament for 40 years and prime minister for nearly seven, accompanied Churchill into retirement. He announced in February, on his 70th birthday, that his health would not let him continue in the House.

Both he and Churchill declined elevation to the peerage, the customary royal gift to outgoing prime ministers. Macmillan also declined membership in the Order of the Garter, which would have made him Sir Harold.

"I like being called mister," he said.

Britain's 43rd Parliament will meet 12 days after its election, on Oct. 27, to choose the Speaker and swear in members. The Queen will open it Nov. 3.

Atom Bomb Triggered By Britons, Book Says

LONDON (CP)—British scientists were the first in the world to perceive that an atomic bomb was technically and economically feasible, says an official history published Thursday.

The book, Britain and Atomic Energy 1939-45, is by Margaret Gowing, historian and archivist of Britain's Atomic Energy Authority.

The volume contains a mass of material never before published. It deals in detail with initial British developments in nuclear explosions and subsequent co-operation and lack of co-operation with the United States and Canada.

Mrs. Gowing's documentary evidence shows that German scientists working in Berlin in 1939 decided fissioning of heavy elements was possible but that a super-bomb using this process was either impossible or ineffective in relation to costs.

POSSIBILITY OVERLOOKED

But in 1940 two refugee German scientists working in Birmingham, England, produced a paper saying the Germans had overlooked one possibility.

The bomb could be produced, said Professors Otto Frisch and Rudolf Peierls, with uranium 235 of great purity. Oxford scientist Francis Simon went on to show how uranium could be separated by a gaseous diffusion process.

While the Battle of Britain was still raging and despite the strain on the economy, the British government immediately set up a secret panel of scientists code-named The Maud Committee.

Mrs. Gowing claims The Maud Committee was one of the most effective scientific bodies that ever existed. Within 15 months it had turned theoretical physics into a practical program for building A-bombs at a cost of £256,000 each.

U.S. STEPS UP RESEARCH

Meanwhile, copies of the Maud report had galvanized the half-hearted U.S. atomic project into action.

By the time co-operation was established by Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt, Britain had begun to lose her early lead. Then, in late 1942, all collaboration was abruptly terminated by the Americans.

ALL-TIME contract bridge record was shattered in Seattle Thursday by Mrs. Hermine Baron of Los Angeles when her 1964 master-point total rose to 1,055. Bay, including a bus-load of people, pulled up at the scene to give assistance.

For half-an-hour the highway was blocked to all traffic.

The death-ride began for the family when Mrs. Worrall picked up her widowed mother at her apartment at 9 p.m.

She was to have baby-sat for her daughter and son-in-law.

Today Mrs. Worrall's husband, Geoffrey, a machinist's helper at HMC Dockyard, was staying with relatives at View Royal.

With him were their two other children, Laura Lee (7) and one-year-old Dannie.

Meanwhile, Mr. McGillivray's wife had checked out of the Sidney Motel where they had been staying during the races at Sandown.

She is believed to be staying with friends in Victoria.

Both injured in hospital were connected with the races.

Mrs. Worrall had been working at the concession stand on race days.

Mr. McGillivray's father is at Sandown where he has been assisting his son with his training of race horses. A brother of McGillivray also is at the track, working for another stable. They originally come from the prairies.

OTTAWA (CP)—David Orlikow (NDP—Winnipeg North) said today there is ample evidence that many immigrants unaware of Canadian laws and customs are unmercifully exploited by some employers.

He told the Commons during discussion of the immigration department's 1964-65 spending program that there is ample evidence that such immigrants are being paid starvation wages.

Arms Smuggling Charges Strain Cyprus Relations

NICOSIA (AP)—Relations between the Greek-Cypriot government and the UN peace force hit a new low today as five Swedish soldiers were held on charges of smuggling arms to the Turkish-Cypriots.

"The situation could not be more serious," said a UN officer, "especially at the time when we are trying to persuade the Cyprus government through the Security Council to grant our forces complete freedom of movement."

He said the UN force had put the men under arrest after Greek-Cypriots nabbed them with two earloads of arms at a roadblock.

Gen. George Grivas, commander of the Greek-Cypriot armed forces, told reporters the Swedes were running arms to Lefka, an inland stronghold of the Turkish-Cypriots.

Grivas charged that UN troops were responsible for most of the arms smuggling to the Turkish-Cypriots.

The Swedes—two officers and three men from the ranks—are expected to be sent back to Sweden for trial after completion of an investigation ordered by Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya of India, commander of the peace force.

CANNOT ARREST THEM

Man's Character Determining Factor

OTTAWA (CP)—Ernest Bergsma was refused Canadian citizenship because the judge considered him not to be a person of good character, Justice Minister Favreau said Thursday.

Mr. Favreau, replying to renewed questioning in the Commons from William D. Howe, NDP—Hamilton South, said Mr. Bergsma, 43, of Caledonia, Ont., wasn't refused citizenship because he wouldn't swear an oath of allegiance using references to God.

He said the citizenship court judge found that Mr. Bergsma was an atheist and took the stand that he could not find Mr. Bergsma to be a person of good character as required under the Citizenship Act.

The question of an oath arises only after a decision is made to grant citizenship, Mr. Favreau said.

The minister also expressed the view that an applicant for citizenship may take the oath by affirmation rather than by swearing in God's name. He said he has so advised the citizenship department.

NO DISCRETION

In reply to an appeal from Dr. Howe that Mr. Bergsma's case be reviewed, Mr. Favreau said no discretion is given the minister although he was sure Citizenship Minister Tremblay would want to consider the matter further.

He stressed that he could not comment on the judge's interpretation of the section of the Citizenship Act requiring that an applicant be of good character.

He indicated that Mr. Bergsma might want to test the validity of the judge's interpretation.

Dr. Howe earlier introduced a bill to permit persons to take citizenship oaths by affirmation as well as by swearing "so help me God."

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI)—A U.S. army officer was killed and an American civilian was wounded in a Communist ambush five miles northeast of Saigon's city limits today.

The army officer was the first American to be killed in the anti-Communist war in Viet Nam in the past 15 days. A U.S. military spokesman said the Communists threw a grenade into a jeep.
